Truman Name Kept Off Ballot In Louisiana

State's Democrats To Back Thurmond; President's Votes Must Be Write-ins

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10 (AP).—President Truman's name was knocked off the Louisiana ballot today and he will be only a write-in candidate in the November 2 general elections.

The States' Rights Democratic candidates—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for President and Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi for Vice President—were declared the Democratic Party nominees in Louisiana.

The Louisiana Democratic State central committee took this action by unanimous vote on a resolution by Judge Leander Perez of St. Bernard and Plaquemines Parishes.

The resolution said in part that the action was taken because "it is the duty of the Democratic State central committee . . . to support candidates for President and Vice President who will preserve the traditions of the people of this State and protect their right of self-government and all other States' rights in accordance with our American way of constitutional government as opposed to candidates for said offices who are pledged to support the enactment of Federal laws to regiment our people, to destroy their right of State government and to force upon them foreign ideologies such as the Russian 'all-races law,' called here the FEPC, which contains a fundamental threat to our American way of life and which would set up a Federal police state for the certain destruction of our American freedom and liberties."

Judge Perez explained the ballot would be headed by the regular Democratic Party's rooster symbol. Immediately beneath it will appear the names of Thurmond and Wright; then will follow the electors' names; and after them the names of candidates nominated in the August 31 Louisiana Democratic primary. The committee met to certify the primary election returns.

To "prevent a split in the vote" for the nominees of the August 31 primary in the general election, Perez said State's Rights electors who have qualified with the Secretary of State will be asked to withdraw.

States Righters Claim To Have 45 Electors

States' righters yesterday claimed they now have 45 electors in six States pledged to Thurmond and Wright. (There are a total of 531 national electors, and 266 are needed to win.)

Lawyer Fined $15 For Absence When Cases Are Called

A lawyer was fined $15 yesterday for failing to be in court when his cases were called, and a businessman was fined $25 for failing to obey a summons to jury duty.

District Court Judge Jennings Bailey found Attorney John G. Saul in contempt of court after Saul had failed to appear on time to represent clients in four cases, which then had to be passed over. Saul said he didn't know his cases were scheduled for yesterday morning.

William D. Dolph, Westchester Apartments, executive vice president of American Broadcasting Stations, Inc., was held in contempt for failing to report for jury duty Tuesday. Called before Judge Bailey yesterday under threat of a bench warrant, Dolph said he was out of town Tuesday. The United States marshal's office said a summons had been left at Dolph's residence in time for him to have arranged to respond to it, or obtain a court waiver.

Dewey Shies At Plea for Revercomb

Piqued at Failure To Liberalize DP Act, Governor May Risk Senate Loss

By a Post Reporter

New York, Sept. 10.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, piqued at Senator Chapman Revercomb's special session refusal to liberalize the Displaced Persons Act, may be willing to sacrifice his Senate seat.

He still hasn't formally agreed to speak in West Virginia, where Revercomb is in a hard-pressed race for reelection to the Senate.

But if he does speak there, he told a West Virginia Republican intermediary today, he will have to make his position clear on the displaced persons bill.

The intermediary was Walter S. Hallanan, national committeeman for West Virginia and a potent figure in the Republican Party.

Hallanan came here today to "insist" that Dewey visit West Virginia on his second campaign trip and "speak for the entire ticket there."

Uses Strongest Argument

He used the weightiest argument he knew—that if Revercomb is defeated, and Democrats capture the Senate by a "majority of one" it will be an unhappy circumstance for Dewey as President and his party as well.

Governor Dewey replied that he has not definitely determined the itinerary of his second trip but is keeping several dates open. He then repeated what he is reported to have said when he recommended liberalization of the act—that as nominee of his party he would have to make his position plain on the displaced persons issue if he goes into the State.

Hallanan conferred with Dewey in New York shortly after the Governor arrived here by train from Albany to register for the November election. Mrs. Dewey drove down from Pawling to join him at their Roosevelt Hotel suite.

Register Together

Later they registered together at election board headquarters, qualifying in advance of the regular October registration period since Dewey will be campaigning out of the State.

Hallanan rode with Dewey to and from election board headquarters, arguing all the way that Dewey should speak in West Virginia.

He argued that if Dewey speaks in Kentucky, Oklahoma and other border States, and fails to speak in West Virginia, it will be obvious to all that "something's" wrong.

He represented Revercomb, chairman of a special Senate judiciary subcommittee, as quite willing to proceed with changes in the act in January after "hearings."

The act, passed at the regular session, allegedly discriminates against admission of both Jewish and Catholic DPs.

Dewey recommended liberalization of the act at the special ses-

South Showed Him Fascism, Wallace Says

Saw How Prejudice Can Warp Good Men, 48,000 Told in N. Y.

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—A cheering, applauding throng of 48,000 paid their way into Yankee Stadium tonight to welcome Henry A. Wallace back from his egg-spattered Southern tour.

The "Yankee Doodle" rally, billed by its sponsors as the biggest paid rally of its kind in history, was the opening gun in Wallace's campaign in New York State. He is running in the State under the banner of the American Labor Party.

Rally officials had predicted that the huge stadium would be filled to capacity, about 70,000 persons. Ticket prices ranged from 60 cents to $3.60.

Before the speaking got under way the crowd was entertained by a musical program.

President Truman's civil rights program and piano-playing ability were mocked in a song whose lyrics said: "He plays on the white keys but not on the black keys: He's afraid of offending the South."

In his speech prepared for delivery, Wallace said he had tasted the "ugly reality" of fascism in his recent Southern campaign tour.

"I have tasted it neither so fully nor so bitterly as millions of others," he said. "But I have tasted it."

"And in tasting it I have reinforced my solemn resolution to fight it wherever and whenever it appears so long as I live."

The Progressive Party presidential nominee said that during his Southern trip, on which he was pelted with eggs and tomatoes at

American Priest Missing in Poland

Boston, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—Representative John W. McCormack (D., Mass.) said today he had asked the State Department to investigate the disappearance of the Rev. Alfred J. Sienkiewicz of Norwich, Conn., who failed to return from a trip through Poland.

The Rev. Sienkiewicz was a member of a pilgrimage to Rome conducted by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston.

McCormack said it is "very apparent that the firm position our Government has been taking against communism is causing the Russian Communists to show disregard of the rights of American citizens."

Corn Sets Pace

U. S. Crops Forecast as Biggest Ever

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

The good land of the United States this year will produce the greatest crops in history—almost 10 per cent greater than the tremendous harvests of 1946.

A month ago the experts on the Government crop reporting board could scarcely believe the production figures that their totaling machines showed. Yesterday—a month later, with most crops virtually assured—they blinked again. For the figures showed that this year's corn will be 22 million bushels greater than estimated in August—a staggering 3,528,000,000 bushels—as contrasted with 2,400,000,000 last year and the last top record of 3,287,000,000 in 1946. The average corn crop—and meat comes from corn—for the last 10 years was only 2,813,000,000 bushels.

With weather favoring spring wheat, the estimated yield for all wheat this year will reach 1,284,000,000 bushels, only 80 million bushels less than the all-time high of last year. The average wheat crop is 942,623,000 bushels.

The story can probably be better told in yields per acre. The yield per acre of corn this year is estimated at 41 bushels. Last year it was 28; the average is 31. If is slightly above the previous all-time high. Wheat this year will

RH Factor Held Cerebral Palsy Cause

Medical Congress Told of Crippling Aspect to Survivors

By N. S. Haseltine
Post Reporter

RH-blood incompatability which has caused the death of many newborn is also responsible for cerebral palsy in some who survive, physicians in meeting here were told yesterday.

The crippling aspect of the RH factor was described at meeting of the American Congress of Physical Medicine, at Hotel Statler, by Dr. George G. Deaver, professor of clinical rehabilitation and physical medicine of New York University College of Medicine, N. Y.

Dr. Deaver spoke at a session devoted to care and rehabilitation of the cerebral palsied, the so-called spastics who lack muscular control. He estimated there are 126 cases of cerebral palsy for every 100,000 population under 21 years of age, and urged better home care, special day schools and more diagnostic and treatment centers for the afflicted.

Concerning the RH factor, Dr. Deaver explained: An RH negative mother giving birth to an RH positive child develops in her blood antibodies to that child's blood. The antibodies tend to destroy the child's blood and he is born with severe hemorrhage and jaundice, and certain portions of the brain are destroyed.

'If this child survives," he said, "he usually has a rigidity type of cerebral palsy."

Other congenital causes of cerebral palsy were listed as brain damage at birth from lack of oxygen, hemorrhage of the brain by compression because the head is too large or by forceps, and incomplete or maladjustment of the motor area of the brain (birth defect).

Dr. William B. Snow, of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, urged a co-

U. S. Ship Arrives To Save 20,000 Volcano Victims

Manila, Saturday, Sept. 11 (AP).—A U. S. Army transport reached stricken Camiguin Island today amid warnings that the 20,000 huddling Filipino refugees there faced a violent new volcanic eruption.

Thundering landslides plugged Hibokhibok's main crater Friday. Geologists feared gas pressure might produce a major explosion.

The refugees, burned by a rain of acidic ash and menaced by chlorine gases, crowded the water's edge.

The transport, Gen. William Weigel, was to begin loading refugees at daylight.

The 17,812-ton ship, too small to accommodate all 20,000, was enroute to Manila from Guam when it received frantic distress calls. More rescue ships are needed urgently, the transport captain reported.

Alfredo Cruz, a Filipino, messaged that the rain of acidic ashes burned the skin, irritated the eyes and inflamed the throats of refugees. (Picture on Page 3.)

Two Chains Lead Off

Agreement on 17.5-Cent Raise Breaks New York Truck Strike

New York, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—New York's crippling truck strike was broken today when two of the largest chain stores announced their acceptance of new union demands and many other employers quickly followed suit.

Some 59 concerns, following the lead of the Atlantic & Pacific and the Bohack chains, announced their acceptance of union wage demands soon after the increase demands were lowered from 25 cents to 17½ cents.

A steady stream of employers came into the office of Local 807 of the AFL Brotherhood of Teamsters to announce their willingness to give the increase.

Those who accepted the agreement included such food chains as Roulston and Peter Reeves, who along with the A & P and Bohack employ a total of 865 drivers.

Others to agree to the union proposals included beverage concerns, smaller food chains, various supply companies and transportation companies.

Union officials said a total of 1400 drivers would go back on the road as a result of agreements reached thus far.

Some 1500 firms, employing about 9000 striking drivers, have not yet indicated a willingness to sign the agreement. But it was expected that many of them, mostly smaller concerns, would sign up soon, and that virtually all of the 13,000 drivers engaged in an area-

Queuille Confirmed As Premier

Radical Socialist Gets 351-196 Vote; Is Supported By De Gaullists

Paris, Sept. 10 (AP).—The National Assembly tonight confirmed Henri Queuille, a veteran Radical Socialist (Centrist) as Premier of France by a comfortable margin.

The vote was 351 to 196, with the Communists casting most of the negative ballots. The required majority is 311.

Queuille is expected to form his cabinet sometime Saturday, ending a two-week-old government crisis. Many foreign observers expressed the belief the cabinet would be weak and were skeptical of its chances of living long.

While the Assembly was in session, Gen. Charles de Gaulle—its bitterest critic—was campaigning in southern France. He said in Avignon:

"I am ready to assure the nation's destiny. I am sure of the nation's reply the day when it will be asked to give it."

De Gaulle and his Rally of the French People, a rightest party, believe they can win if the Assembly is dissolved and a national election held.

In spite of their desire for such an election, however, the De Gaullists gave their support to Queuille, who was associated with the general in the Free French movement during the war.

Queuille also was backed by the Socialists, Popular Republicans and his own Radical-Socialists. Active in French politics for more than 28 years, Queuille has served as a cabinet minister 22 times since 1920, but never before has been Premier.

He was Minister of State in the Andre Marie cabinet, the fall of which touched off the government crisis, and was Minister of Public Works and Transport in the cabinet organized by Robert Schuman which lasted just 64 hours.

Before the vote was taken Queuille told the Assembly he feared widespread "disorders in the streets" of France unless the wage and price problem is solved. He conceded, however, that he now had no clear-cut solution to advance.

He took a stand against general wage increases, which the Socialists have demanded. He also came out for $260,000,000 in new taxes between now and the end of the year.

Apparently in deference to the De Gaullists, he promised his new government would take up the problem of new elections "as soon as we have gotten out of our present difficulties."

The 64-year-old former doctor said wages, prices and inflation make up the "most serious sickness which afflicts the nation." He said the purchasing power of the franc must be stabilized and added that if this is not done by legal methods "disorders in the street may result."

Queuille said as Premier and Finance Minister he would plump for economies in military and civil service outlays, overhauling of government subsidies and added taxes.

"The road I propose to you is that of sacrifice and discipline," he declared. He also warned the Assembly that "it is time we tried to wipe away the climate of pessimism and discouragement that has led to a mistrust of the efficiency of our regime and is manifested in uneasiness abroad on the recovery chances of France."

'Avenue of Progress' Pageant

Silver Spring Expects 50,000 At Underpass Opening Today

(Map and Picture on Page 11)

By Roger Farquhar
Post Reporter

Upward of 50,000 persons are expected at the "Avenue of Progress" pageant in Silver Spring today to celebrate completion of the million-dollar underpass under the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the reopening of Georgia ave. to traffic.

Gov. W. Preston Lane, jr., of Maryland, and other State dignitaries will participate in the festivities that mark completion of the two-million-dollar project. The ceremonies will begin at 2 p. m.

Governor Lane, at that time, will cut a ribbon across the road under the railroad opening it to vehicular traffic. On hand also will be President Roy B. White of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and Chairman Robert M. Reindollar of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The Governor then will ride in the first car to go through the underpass, followed by a two-hour parade.

The parade will start at the underpass after forming on 13th st. west of Georgia ave., and then proceed north on Georgia ave. to Colesville rd., thence to Fenton st. and left on Wayne ave. to Dale dr., dispersing at the Montgomery Blair High School stadium at Wayne ave. and Sligo Creek pkwy.

The parade of 59 units, including five bands, is scheduled to arrive at the stadium at 4 p.m., where Governor Lane will dedicate the recently completed school stadium during a two-hour ceremony.

Also participating in the stadium events will be Vice Chairman E. Brooke Lee of the Maryland Park and Planning Commission and President H. Stanley Stine of the Montgomery County School Board.

Other features of the stadium activities, sponsored by the Allied Civic Groups, will include the crowning of Miss Mary Jane Owens as "Miss Silver Spring." Norman Brokenshire, a radio producer and former Silver Spring resident, will be master of ceremonies.

Concluding event of the day-long celebration planned by the Silver Spring Board of Trade will be a street dance at 9 p. m. on Georgia ave. at Bonifant st., in front of the Silver Spring postoffice.

Repaving of Georgia ave. from East-West hwy. to Colesville rd. and construction of the underpass were done concurrently, and President Blair Lee 3d, of the trade board, estimated merchants lost 2½ million dollars as a result of torn-up street conditions and rerouting of traffic. The project was financed jointly by State and Federal funds.

A crew of 100 yesterday worked in the rain to put finishing touches on the underpass.

New Airlift Demands By Russians Blocked; U. S. Unity Reaffirmed

After Talk With Dewey

Nation as One in Berlin Crisis, Vandenberg Tells All World

By Robert C. Albright
Post Reporter

New York, Sept. 10.—A statement serving notice on the world that America is politically united in the present critical Berlin situation was issued tonight by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) following a two-hour conference with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

John Foster Dulles, United States representative in the United Nations General Assembly, joined Governor Dewey and Senator Vandenberg in the surprise party conference and Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, spoke for all three.

The statement, declaring America "united against aggression and against the foes of freedom," mentioned only incidentally the Berlin crisis but its meaning was plain.

"Regardless of political differences at home we are serving notice on the world that America is united to protect American rights everywhere and through firmness in the right to seek peace with justice for ourselves and the other peace-loving peoples of the world," said Vandenberg.

Vandenberg and Dulles are the two men on whom Dewey leans heaviest for his foreign advice. He spoke to them in the primaries as men "who know how to say 'No' to Stalin." It is an open secret that either Dulles or Vandenberg will be Secretary of State if Dewey is elected in November.

"It is of the greatest importance that other nations which do not understand our political system should not be misled by our political campaign at home," the statement continued.

"We shall be in internal controversy regarding many phases of

Groves Knows Of No Uranium Leak to Soviet

Impossible to Get 600,000 Perfect People, General Says

Lieut. Gen. Leslie R. Groves told the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday that if Russia got refined uranium from this country during the war he didn't know about it.

He dropped a hint, though, that atomic secrets might have leaked out of his Manhattan District to the Soviets despite all security precautions. Asked by reporters after he left the closed committee room if atomic scientists had let any secret information get to the Russians, Grove said:

"Anybody who thinks it's possible to get 600,000 people who are perfect just isn't intelligent."

Belgian Graves Of U. S. Dead Are Menaced

Brussels, Belgium, Sept. 10 (AP).—Two real estate companies have taken court action to compel evacuation of the American cemetery in Neuville-en-Condroz within eight days. Twelve thousand American war dead are buried there.

A strong protest over the action was raised by a Belgian newspaper today.

Spokesmen said the Belgian government may expropriate the land in order to make sure American military authorities remain in undisputed possession of the cemetery.

The land, was requisitioned in 1944 for the cemetery. The corporations contend they are tired of waiting for compensation from the Belgian government.

Belgian Prime Minister Paul-Henri Spaak was known to be seriously concerned and a government investigation of the affair already has been ordered.

Colony Talks Not Opposed, Tass Reports

Soviet Note Calls U. S. View of Parley 'Quite Arbitrary'

London (Saturday), Sept. 11 (AP).—The Soviet News agency Tass said today Russia "will not object" to a four-power conference in Paris Monday on the fate of Italy's prewar colonies. The agency's dispatch quoted a Soviet note addressed to the United States.

The Russian note, distributed by Tass in London, accused the United States of a "quite arbitrary and inadmissible" act in suggesting in a note to Russia September 8 that a session of the four Foreign Ministers themselves would not be of great use if the Soviets had no new proposals to put forward.

The Russian note charged the United States note of September 8 was "not in conformity with the peace treaty with Italy" in implying that Secretary of State Marshall would not attend the Foreign Ministers' Conference, but would send one of his representatives.

A week ago, the Soviet Union suggested United States, British

Hungary Arrests Two Churchmen

Budapest, Sept. 10 (AP).—The Hungarian Interior Ministry announced today the arrest of Evangelical Bishop Lajos Ordas and Baron Albert Radvanszky, former superintendent of Hungary's Evangelical Church.

The announcement alleged the two men "disposed of several hundred thousand dollars without the permission of the National Bank and sold foreign currency on the black market."

Leftist newspapers here said Bishop Ordas received $500,000 from the American World Federation of Lutherans in 1947. Hungarian regulations require reporting of foreign currency assets to the National Bank.

Former Envoy to U. S.

L. B. Pearson Named Canada's Minister of External Affairs

Ottawa, Sept. 10 (AP).—L. B. Pearson, 51, former Canadian Ambassador to the United States, was appointed Minister of External Affairs today. He takes over the post held by Louis St. Laurent, newly elected leader of the Liberal Party, who will become Canada's acting Prime Minister on Monday.

Pearson probably will make few if any changes in Canada's foreign policy. He thinks of Canada as a link and an interpreter between Britain and the United States. He is convinced a North Atlantic security arrangement between the United States, Canada, Britain, France and other Western European nations is the surest guarantee of peace.

[Lester B. (Mike) Pearson was Canadian Ambassador to the United States from December 16, 1944, to September 4, 1946, when he was moved to Ottawa to become undersecretary of state for external affairs. Before being elevated to the rank of Ambassador he had served as minister at the Canadian Embassy here.

[Tall, genial, handsome and extremely popular here and in other capitals, he had served in World War I, going up through the ranks from private to flight lieutenant.

[As a most active exponent of international collaboration, he played an influential part in international conferences that led to creation of UNRRA, FAO and the United Nations.—Editor's note.]

Current Flight Data Adequate, Americans Say to Request for More

Berlin, Sept. 10 (AP).—American authorities today swiftly blocked a Russian attempt to snarl with red tape the joint United States-British airlift supplying Berlin.

A Soviet note to the four-power air safety center demanded detailed flight information concerning the supply planes, but United States officials replied that the Russians already were getting adequate information. The huge transports have been carrying supplies to Berlin since the Russians blockaded the city last June.

Railway officials in Hannover said the Russians allowed eight railway cars of mail to travel from blockaded Berlin to the British zone of Germany during the day, but a British transport official in Berlin said it had "no significance as far as the blockade of Berlin is concerned."

The British official said the westward movement of mail posted in the Soviet sector of Berlin has been going on all summer "in dribs and drabs." He pointed out that the trains carrying it do not move over the blockaded international Helmstedt line, but along a northerly route on which there never had been any stoppage of such traffic. There was no sign of resumption of traffic on the Helmstedt line.

The procedure regarding the mail apparently is that Russian authorities request railway officials on the British side of the border to send locomotives to the Vorsfelde border point, about 10 miles north of Helmstedt, where they attach mail cars to it. The cars

3 West Envoys Told To Seek Stalin Session

London, Sept. 10 (NYHT).—The three Western envoys at Moscow were instructed today to seek a new meeting with Premier Josef Stalin in a last attempt to seek a solution of the east-west dispute over Berlin, it was learned tonight.

The three envoys—American Ambassador Walter Bedel Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau and British Representative Frank Roberts—may have to see Soviet Foreign Minister Viacheslav M. Molotov first in order to arrange for the meeting with Stalin, official sources pointed out.

If the next move fails to show a new way out of the long impasse, the United States, Britain and France will place their case before the United Nations.

Cyclotron Built By High School Physics Class

El Cerrito, Calif., Sept. 10 (U.P.).—The physics class at El Cerrito High School had its home-made cyclotron working today. Success came after a year and a half of heartbreaks and setbacks.

The dream occurred after four boy students visited the nearby University of California radiation laboratory. The boys announced to Physics Teacher Ben Siegel their intention to build a miniature of the university's famous 184-inch atom-smasher.

"Fantastic," said school officials, but Siegel said "go ahead." He talked school authorities out of a $6000 grant and a small room on the school grounds for the experiment.

Dr. E. O. Lawrence of the university, inventor of the first cyclotron, released his patent rights to the youths. Harry Kennedy, inventor and technician, loaned them his tools and facilities.

The boys even constructed their own Geiger counter. Today their cyclotron is worth approximately $15,000—at a total expenditure, less the youths' voluntary time, of about $750. It is the twenty-fifth built in the United States.

Aid Still to Flow If De Gaulle Wins

For First Year

Fund Split Revealed by ECA Nations

By Ferdinand Kuhn, jr.
Post Reporter

Paris, Sept. 10 (AP).—Spokesmen for 16 nations and 3 military regimes of western Europe revealed tonight how they had allocated American aid funds for the first year of the European Recovery Program.

Here is the breakdown:

Britain, $1,233,000,000; France, $1,009,000,000; Italy, $611,000,000; Holland (including the Dutch Indies), $506,000,000; bizone of Germany, $364,000,000; Belgium, $250,000,000; Austria, $217,000,000; Greece, $146,000,000; Denmark, $110,000,000; French zone of Germany, $100,000,000; Norway, $84,000,00; Ireland, $79,00,000; Turkey, $50,000,000; Eweden, $47,000,000; Trieste free territory, $18,000,000; Iceland, $11,000,000.

No allotment was made for Portugal or Switzerland.

This division left $40,000,000 of the total $4,875,000,000 of United State aid for 1948-49 unaccounted for a communique from the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) said.

It was explained that this $40,000,000 would be kept in reserve for "adjustments that become indispensable."

It was stated that the bizone of Germany protested against its allotment and was given an additional $50,000,000 which was taken from the sums given to Britain, France, Italy, Holland and Sweden.

The OEEC said 564 million dollars set aside for intra-European payments would be furnished by Britain, Belgium, the Bizone of Germany, Italy, Sweden and Turkey. The beneficiaries are to be France, The Netherlands, Austria, Greece, Norway, Denmark and the French zone of Germany.

To partially satisfy the Bizone, its first assignment to contribute 91 million dollars to the fund was reduced by 35 million dollars.

Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul Hoffman indicated yesterday that France would continue to get American aid if Gen. Charles de Gaulle should come to power.

Hoffman said he would cut off aid, as required by law, from any country that went Communist, and would also cut it off from any "Fascist counterpart of a Communist government."

He quickly explained to reporters, however, that he did not consider De Gaulle as a "Fascist counterpart."

At a crowded press conference, Hoffman was asked to comment on "reports from Paris" that the French had been warned of losing American aid if they included Communists in their new government. The warning was said to have come from "either the State Department or the ECA."

Question Not Put, He Says

Hoffman answered that the question had not been put up to ECA. The whole legislative history behind the Foreign Assistance Act, he said, "points clearly to the fact that if a country goes Communistic our ECA aid should be terminated."

"But members of a cabinet don't necessarily make a country 'Communistic'," the questioner persisted.

"That is right," said Hoffman.

"If a country went authoritarian in the other sense, would it also be cut off?"

"I think it is a highly academic question," Hoffman replied.

Later Hoffman explained that the question was "academic" because he did not know what would take place in France.

'In Same Category'

"If a Fascist counterpart of a Communist government took place anywhere," he told the press conference, "I would say it would be in exactly the same category. I don't want to imply that there is the slightest possibility of that happening in France; I don't know that there is even a remote possibility of it."

"Would you consider De Gaulle as a Fascist counterpart?" he was asked.

"I would not," was his emphatic answer.

Hoffman was confident of an early settlement of the dispute between Europeans nations and the American military authorities in western Germany over the country-by-country division of the first year's American aid. He denied there had been any "deadlock" over the proposed division of the money, although he said the Greeks and Italians, as well as the bi-zonal authorities, "have put up a terrific battle."

He thought it important that the Europeans were trying to agree among themselves on each country's share, even though their agreement would be no more than a recommendation for his own final decision.

Sees Encouragement

He said the spirit with which the Europeans were working in Paris was "one of the most encouraging things that has happened since ECA started," and he expressed the belief that there had been "a real stepping up of efforts both at self-help and economic cooperation" in western Europe.

Hoffman announced that he had appointed a committee of industrialists headed by George M. Humphrey, president of the M. A. Hanna Company of Cleveland, to advise him on which German factories should be kept in Germany instead of being assigned to other countries as reparations.

Other members of the committee are John L. McCaffrey, president of the International Harvester Co. of Chicago.; Gwilym A. Price, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh; Frederick V. Geier, president of the Cincinnati Milling Machine Co., and Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Motors Corp.

Hoffman expressed his own belief that "a number of plants could be retained in Germany for the benefit of European recovery," and equally that certain plants already scheduled for removal as reparations should be removed. The point at issue was how many plants should be retained in Germany, he said, and on this he and his new committee might not have a recommendation for several weeks.

Three Fliers Indicted in Bond Traffic

Boston, Sept. 10 (AP).—Three former Air Transport Command officers and a Boston broker were indicted today by a Federal grand jury for an alleged international, airborne traffic in American bonds valued at $500,000 which were stolen by the Nazis in Holland.

United States Attorney William T. McCarthy, who described the bonds as "gilt-edged, blue chip" securities of American industries, said they were stolen during German occupation of the Netherlands.

The indictments charge the three fliers, Edward R. Ashton of Enfield, Conn., and Seymour Lerner and Gerald A. Rowland, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., flew the bonds to this country and that Wendell M. Weston, the broker, disposed of many of them.

Ferdinand, Ex-Bulgarian Czar, Is Dead

Coburg, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP).—Ferdinand, first King of modern independent Bulgaria, died today at 87 after a lifetime among assassination plots and revolutions.

Ferdinand I

Czar Ferdinand, as he was known, long believed he would die on Friday the 13th. He died on Friday, but not the 13th.

He cast his lot with Germany in World War I and abdicated in 1918 when the Allies defeated Bulgaria and the Central Powers. The act saved the dynasty for his son, King Boris, who died during World War II. A grandson, boy King Simeon II, went into exile in Egypt in 1946 when Bulgaria voted to become a republic after World War II.

Son of German Prince Augustus of Saxe-Coburg and Princess Clementine of Bourbon-Orleans, Ferdinand was born in Coburg on February 26, 1861, without a prospect of becoming a sovereign. When Prince Alexander of Bulgaria had to flee because of Balkan intrigues, he was offered the throne.

Turkey and most European powers refused to recognize him. Finally he won Russian recognition by having Boris baptized in the Greek Orthodox Church.

In 1908 he proclaimed Bulgarian independence from Turkey, and himself King Ferdinand the First.

Princess Marie Louise of Parma, his first wife, died in 1899. His second wife, Princess Eleanore of Reuss-Kostritis, whom he married in 1909, died in 1917.

New Red Attempt to Snarl Berlin Airlift Blocked by U. S.

are brought from Berlin to the border by the Russians.

The information which Soviet authorities demanded on airlift flights was that one hour before every flight, they be given information on: the type of plane, the pilot's name, altitude, takeoff time, radio details and the object of the trip.

A senior American air officer described the Soviet move as "just another attempt to muscle in on us." He said the real aim was to get "control over our flights and we can't afford to let them interfere with the airlift."

(In Moscow an informed source said at least one of the three western envoys had received instructions on the next step in the four power talks on the Berlin crisis. The American, British and French envoys have been standing by awaiting instructions from their governments. The four military governors of Germany reached a pau in their negotiations after seven meetings.

(After receipt of the instructions the three western diplomats in Moscow met informally. It was not known immediately whether they would ssek another meeting with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov or Prime Minister Stalin.)

The Soviet demand for airlift information came as the Americans set a new record in the lift over the Soviet ground barriers. They carried 3527 tons to Berlin in 172 flights.

For the second straight day Soviet bombers flew over Danish territry "in great numbers." The planes are participating in big Russian air and sea maneuvers. The fighters again droned high over Berlin.

The Danish government still was undecided whether to protest to Moscow about the flights over the Danish Island of Bornholm in the Baltic. Col. H. E. Christensen, Danish commandant of Bornholm, said the Soviet flights had not been provocative in character and that is why no warning shots were fired.

Rally Answer Promised

Meanwhile, Communists promised an answer Sunday to yesterday's anti-Russian rally which broke into street fighting in Berlin. The Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party (SED) will hold the answering rally in the Lustgarten, in the Soviet part of the city, about a half mile from the boundaries of the British sector.

A 16-year-old boy was killed and more than 20 Berliners were injured when the crowd yesterday stoned a Russian jeep and a demonstrator ripped a Red flag from atop Brandenburg gate. In the melee, Russian soldiers and their German police fired.

"The greatest mass protest I have ever seen to come from people of their own free will," was the way Senator Chan Gurney (R., S. D.) described the demonstration.

Courage Commended

"It proved to me," he added, "that the Germans are definitely against the Red ideology and their courage in turning out in the face of the Berlin crisis is worthy of commendation everywhere."

Gurney is chairman of the Senate Armed Service Committee. He left for Geneva after inspecting United States occupation forces here.

The Socialist press claimed that the Soviet-controlled police arrested about 90 men and women returning from the anti-Communist rally. The Soviet-controlled police, however, claimed they had arrested only 27. All were jailed in the Russian sector.

The Russians today hoisted an official Soviet flag with hammer and sickle to replace the plain red one torn from the gate yesterday.

Boy Ignores Bullets, Grabs Reds' Flag Staff

Berlin, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—When anti-Communist demonstrators tore the Russian flag from the Brandenburg Gate last night, a 9-year-old boy grabbed the heavy flag staff and began to haul it away.

"We need firewood," he said, ignoring the bullets whizzing around him.

Thuringia 'Spies'

U. S.-British Ring Broken, Russians Say

Berlin, Sept. 10 (NYHT).—The Russians today announced they had smashed a United States and British spy ring operating in the Soviet-zone province of Thuringia.

Already 15 persons have been arrested, according to the Soviet-licensed news agency, ADN.

Talk of spy rings is generally viewed here as symptomatic of political unrest in the Soviet zone. For increasingly, in accordance with the patern in eastern Europe.

According to the Soviet agency's charges, a certain Joachim Barkmann confessed that he had been acting as agent for two foreign secret services.

Barkmann, allegedly a member of the east secretariat of the Social Democratic Party, traveled regularly to the Soviet zone from Hannover, "using as credentials military papers of the British and United States military authorities," the agency charged.

According to the news agency story, the ring working for Barkmann furnished him with information about "Soviet army activities, activities of the Soviet military administration and information designed to further the splitting of Germany."

Barkmann is said to have told the spy ring at their last meeting that the United States and Great Britain "need urgently a complete picture of the political and economic situation in the Soviet zone and other data on the strength of the Soviet occupation forces."

Hodge Expects Yanks to Stay Until Korea's Future Is Clear

Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge said yesterday American troops will not likely be withdrawn from Korea until final decisions are reached as to the future of that country.

Hodge, who has headed the United States occupation in Korea since VJ-Day, recently relinquished those duties. He arrived in Washington early yesterday and is awaiting a new assignment in this country.

He told a news conference he expects to discuss Korean affairs with Secretary of State Marshall before Marshall leaves next week-end for Paris to attend the United Nations General Assembly.

The Korean situation is expected to be brought up at the Assembly in connection with a report on a U. N. resolution which called for elections there. The discussion may involve final withdrawal of American and Russian occupation troops.

Hodge told newsmen communism in South Korea is at its lowest ebb.

During the day, Hodge conferred with Army Secretary Kenneth Royall anad Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff.

U. S. Communist Chief Ordered to Take Rest

New York, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—William Z. Foster, head of the Communist Party in the United States, has been ordered by his doctors to take a "complete bed rest" for several weeks, the Daily Worker said today.

The Communist newspaper quoted Eugene Dennis, the party's general secretary, that Foster has been ill for the past three weeks.

Nehru Determined On Hyderabad Move

New Delhi, Sept. 10 (AP).—Prime Minister Nehru said today that Indian troops will march into the state of Hyderabad regardless of opposition.

"We do not expect an easy march to Secuderabad (75 miles inside Hyderabad)," Nehru told newsmen. Asked what India would do if the Nizam of the big state opposes the entry of troops, he said:

"We will march."

India has asked the Nizam to facilitate posting of Indian troops at Secunderabad "to restore order." No answer has been received, and Nehru said no time limit had been placed on the entry of the armed forces.

The United States Embassy said the 40 Americans and 300 Britons in the area will be evacuated by air in a few days.

(Hyderabad has appealed to the United Nations to act, but no move has been made. U. N. sources express doubt that the U. N. can handle the case because of the question whether the complaint originates with a sovereign government.

(In Washington, the White House acknowledged that a request has been received from the Nizam of Hyderabad for President Truman to help settle the dispute.

(But Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said American custom requires that a request must come from both parties before a President can use his good offices to settle such a dispute.)

The situation grew out of the partitioning of old British India into Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan. The Nizam of Hyderabad is the only one of the 562 princes who has refused to accede to one dominion or the other.

'Axis Sally' Indicted by Jury Here on 10 Counts of Treason

American-born Mildred Elizabeth Gillars, 47, whose broadcasting activities for the Nazis during the war won for her the nickname of "Axis Sally," was indicted here yesterday on 10 counts of treason.

The indictment was returned by the grand jury in District Court before Judge Jennings Bailey. Present was John M. Kelley, jr., special assistant to the Attorney General.

Miss Gillars, a native of Portland, Me., who is also known as Mildred E. Sisk, was not in the courtroom when the indictment was returned. She is being held without bond in District Jail.

Miss Gillars is accused of broadcasting a series of "Home, Sweet Home" programs over the German radio to American troops in Europe.

The grand jury charged that she aided Hitler's Nazi German government in its psychological warfare against the United States not only to weaken the resistance of Americans at home but also "for the purpose of . . . weakening the fighting powers and the morale" of U. S. troops overseas.

The indictment further accused her of violating her allegiance to the country of her birth and said she "knowingly, intentionally, willfully, unlawfully, feloniously and treasonably did adhere to the enemies of the United States."

Besides her "Home, Sweet Home" broadcasts, allegedly designed to whet the homesickness of American soldiers serving in North Africa, Italy and on the Western Front in Europe, the grand jury said Miss Gillars helped produce a radio drama entitled "Vision of Invasion."

The indictment said the "Invasion" broadcasts, beamed from Berlin to American troops abroad and to Americans at home, occurred between January 1 and June 6, 1944. June 6 was D-Day in the invasion of Normandy.

The jury's charge disclosed no details of the "Invasion" drama, but American war correspondents who heard the broadcasts in England recalled that they conjured a picture of inevitable and frightful calamity that would strike Allied invasion forces.

Originating Points Listed

According to the indictment, Miss Gillars broadcast for the Germans from December 11, 1941, through May 8, 1945. Originating points were listed as Chartres and Paris in France, Hilversum in Holland and Berlin.

The indictment said that the defendant persuaded captured American soldiers to record messages to their families and relatives "for the purpose of obtaining a large listening audience in the United States."

Instead of sending the messages of the American war prisoners to their loved ones at home, the indictment continued, Miss Gillars exploited them to "interject and weave" Nazi propaganda into the broadcasts.

Miss Gillars has been held in the District Jail since August 21. She was arrested two years ago, cowering in the rubble of a burned-out Berlin cellar when American troops entered the German capital.

Army authorities released her a short time later, but the Justice Department subsequently took over her case for prosecution.

A Justice Department spokesman said a hearing scheduled for next Tuesday before United States Commissioner Cyril Lawrence here has been canceled. The grand jury's action, he said, "removes the case from the commissioner's jurisdiction."

Air Freight Forwarding Business Approved

The Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday authorized air freight forwarders to engage in business for at least five years.

The board's decision means the use in air transportation of a middleman between the shipper and the airline. The middleman collects and consolidates cargo shipments, making his profit on the differential between the rates for small and large consignments. It is a new operation so far as scheduled airlines are concerned. The CAB decision was by 3 to 1, with Chairman Joseph J. O'Connell, jr., and members Oswald Ryan and Josh Lee concurring, while member Harold A. Jones dissented. Member Russell Adams did not take part.

Crisis Feared In Killing of Yugoslavs

Athens, Sept. 10 (AP).—A United Nations representative saind today an attack by Yugoslav soldiers on Greek forces in the Kaimatchalan raea could develop into a "serious Balkan crisis."

The representative, a member of the U. N. Balkan watchdog commission, said the entry of armed Yugoslav troops into Greece constituted a provocation against Greece and the U. N. He called it "the most serious violation of Greek territory by her northern neighbors."

The U. N. commission has been in the Balkans for a year investigating incidents along the Greek border and will report to the U. N. General Assembly meeting in Paris September 21.

A Greek communique announced that 20 Yugoslav soldiers were killed by Greek troops when the Yugoslav force entered Kaimatchalan two days ago. Greek forces repulsed the invaders the government said.

15-Billion Top Put on Budget For Military

By John G. Norris
Post Reporter

The White House disclosed last night that it has placed a tentative 15-billion-dollar ceiling on next year's military budget—in effect, a cut.

This sum—though 600 millions higher than current appropriations—will fall roughly about a half billion dollars short of carrying the Army, Navy and Air Force through the year at the levels voted by Congress, fiscal authorities stated.

That is because the armed forces will not reach the higher new authorized strengths until late in the year and in fiscal 1950 the larger force must be paid, fed, clothed and equipped for a full 12 months.

Pentagon chiefs are hard at work on the new budget, attempting to trim here and there so as to apply the cut where it will be felt the least. They have two alternatives:

1. Cut back manpower 100,000 to 150,000, or

2. Take the money out of other appropriations, such as shipbuilding, aircraft procurement, public works, stockpiling, research, procurement of new weapons, maintenance, fuel, administrative, etc.

Probability is that the cut, if finally ordered, will come out of the latter. In fact, programs approved by Congress last year call for an increase in personnel, if anything. The 70-group Air Force, for example, would demand 502,000 officers and men in fiscal 1950, compared with 440,000 this year.

Both the Bureau of the Budget announcement, and White House officials, however, declared that the 15-billion-dollar limit is "not inflexible" and largely forms a basis for planning.

Earlier yesterday, Secretary Forrestal announced that he had approved and sent to the White House an Air Force request to order 213 additional jet fighters and piston bombers costing about 103 million dollars. He also announced that the Air Force had asked for release of an additional 96 million dollars of withheld aircraft procurement funds to buy 10 B-47 jet bombers and some transports, trainers and helicopters. Sixteen million dollars of the latter sum would go for guided missiles, it was said. The announcement confirmed a story appearing in The Washington Post yesterday.

Benes Buried At Hus Shrine

Prague, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—Eduard Benes, who resigned as President of Czechoslovakia rather than serve under a Communist regime, was buried today only a few feet from the spot where the Protestant martyr, Jan Hus, preached five centuries ago.

Benes was buried at noon in the garden of his summer home at Sezimovo Usti, 60 miles south of Prague. It was on a rock near the grave that Hus preached the "heretical" sermons which led to his being burned at the stake in 1415.

The public was not admitted to the final services, which began at 11 a. m. on the veranda of Benes' home. Mrs. Hana Benes, the widow, and other members of the family were present, along with members of the Diplomatic Corps, cabinet ministers and delegations from the Sokol gymnastic organization, veterans groups and other organizations.

Marshall Plan Aid Condemned by UE

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—The CIO United Electrical Workers closed a five-day convention tonight with condemnation of the Marshall Plan, over opposition from a minority led by CIO Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey.

The last convention act of President Albert J. Fitzgerald was to refuse to enter into convention records an exoneration of Carey by his local Philadelphia union.

The local had exonerated Carey of charges contained in a convention resolution that he "defamed" the union by criticizing alleged communism in it before a House Labor Subcommittee last week.

Other actions included:

A resolution against the Taft-Hartley Act.

Defeat of a constitutional amendment to elect national officers by referendum.

Refusal to seat four delegates from Local 1581, representing 3800 Buffalo (N. Y.) Westinghouse workers, in a dispute over dues. The delegates later stated they were excluded because "we refuse to accept Communist Party domination."

The foreign policy resolution said the American foreign-aid program should be administered under United Nations' control instead of through the Marshall Plan. It charged the Marshall Plan was causing "a war economy" in America and "interference in internal affairs" abroad.

Carey was voted down on a substitute foreign resolution calling for support of the Marshall Plan, rejection of dictatorship in all countries and full recognition and arms for Israel.

wide strike would be working again shortly.

Army Applies Pressure To Get Cargo Moving

San Francisco, Sept. 10 (AP).—The Army put on the pressure today to get its vital cargo moving out of strike-bound Pacific Coast ports.

But the nine-day-old strike hung fast on the issue of union officers signing non-Communist affidavits.

Secretary of the Army Royall said in Washington Harry Bridges had agreed his CIO longshoremen would load essential Army cargo during the strike under prestrike pay and "working conditions."

The matter, Royall added, has been referred to the Army's stevedoring contractors.

In San Francisco, Bridges called the Washington announcement "an ultimatum to the shipowners." He said it plainly meant the Army work "would not be done under conditions demanded by the Waterfront Employers Association (WEA), namely compliance with the Taft-Hartley law."

A WEA spokesman did not regard it as an ultimatum. The spokesman said prestrike "working conditions" would include activities by longshoremen without their officers signing non-Communist affidavits. WEA's 150 members have voted to have no further dealings with Bridges' union until the signatures are forthcoming.

Nearing the end of a vote count, officials of Bridges union said today the membership has balloted 90 per cent against having officers yield to employer demands that they sign the affidavits.

Other Developments

By The Associated Press

Yesterday's strike developments by industries included:

Oil Refining: At San Francisco, negotiations were resumed by the six struck major oil companies and the CIO oil workers. However, J. Elro Brown, district director of the union, said, "I don't see any indication of agreement. We are just sitting here staring at each other."

Flour: Efforts to settle the strike of 1200 grain handlers in Minneapolis and St. Paul broke down. Employers said they would not go beyond their offer of a 12½ cents hourly wage increase. The union, which originally asked 37 cents, is holding out for 15 cents.

Automotive: Some 50,000 automobile workers were idle in Briggs, Chrysler and Packard plants at Detroit because of a walkout of 170 independent union plant guards at Briggs.

Youth Cleared In Auto Death

James S. Fowler, 16, of 5818 Ritchie rd., Forestville, Md., yesterday was found innocent of manslaughter and reckless driving charges in Marlboro Police Court.

Charges were placed against Fowler after the car he was driving on September 1 struck and killed John Allen, jr., 11, of 7609 Walters la., in Forestville. Young Allen was riding a bicycle.

Witnesses said the victim swerved in front of the car on the bicycle and that Fowler was traveling at a slow rate of speed. Trial Magistrate Arthur P. Owens said there was insufficient evidence to support the charges.

No Absolute Cure

"There is no absolute cure for cerebral palsy," said Dr. Snow. "It is only by making the best use of the facilities which are present, and directing them to compensate for the child's handicap, that these patients can be rehabilitated."

In another special session, on rehabilitation of polio patients, a team of researchers reported favorable results in preventing loss of muscle strength of polio victims by electrical stimulation of the affected muscles. Currents below pain-producing voltages were employed, they said.

Although beneficial results were not in themselves dramatic, they reported, the psychological effect on the patient was termed "remarkable."

"It was a great relief to a patient to see and feel movement in a limb or muscle which he had not been able to move for periods up to six years," they said in a consolidated paper.

Participating were Dr. Stafford Osborne and Dr. A. J. Kosman, both of Northwestern University; Dr. Harry D. Bouman, University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, University of Illinois.

Democrats Stress Farm Prosperity

Des Moines, Sept. 10 (AP).—Midwestern Democratic leaders announced today that farm prosperity will be their key campaign theme.

James C. Quigley, Democratic National Committeeman from Nebraska, made the announcement in behalf of the Midwest Conference of Democratic officials after a meeting of party leaders from 11 States.

"We agreed that any leveling off of prices and any possible future recession should not start with the lowering of farm prices, the collapse of farm buying power and the destruction of farm values which has preceded every Republican depression," Quigley's statement as chairman of the conference said.

Weather Hampers Search for 4 Planes

Manila, P. I., Sept. 10 (U.P.).—Thirteenth U. S. Air Force Headquarters announced today that bad weather had hampered the search for four P-47 fighter planes of the Eighteenth Fighter Group which have been missing since Wednesday.

A number of aircraft will take off tomorrow, if the weather permits, the Air Force said.

Groves Knows of No Uranium Leak to Russia

ties Committee was probing for evidence of Soviet espionage, another House committee pressed its investigation of complaints that the CIO Fur Workers Union was Communist-dominated. After three days of hearing fur manufacturers testify that the union was Red-dominated, the committee received a statement from Ben Gold, fur union head, blasting the industry witnesses. Gold is scheduled to appear next Thursday.

"A devious menagerie of evil-minded, frustrated union haters," said Gold of the industry representatives, "has been filling the record with irresponsible lies, deliberate falsehoods and fabrications.

"They raged because they cannot buy off the leaders of this union.

"Have Lied Outright"

"They have lied outright, falsified crudely and viciously slandered the union's leaders."

The committee, meanwhile, heard Harry Bloom, official of the Associated Fur Manufacturers declare that mass picketing is becoming "an instrument of insurrection" in the hands of Red labor leaders. The tactic of combining the strength of several unions to mass against one employer, he said, was part of "the plans of communism."

"Unless you do something about it," he declared, "you're going to have trouble in every city in the land. If you don't correct that you'll have revolution."

Bloom said Gold once told him he was "an American Communist," and said the industry no longer could rely on the union leader's word.

"Something else beside unionism is in the picture," he declared. "I don't know whether you want to call Kremlin, the PAC (CIO Political Action Committee), or the New York City CIO Council. I don't know what it is, but its bad."

Asked by Chairman Schwabe (R., Mo.) whether most of the mass pickets he complained of were Communists, Bloom waved his arms and shouted:

"Look, my friend, when you ask me how many Communists, that's a silly question. Look, they don't have to be Communists; just the leaders.

"In Russia they have less Communists than there's people."

$25,000 for Welfare

Another witness, Albert J. Feldman, an official of A. Hollander & Son., Inc., of New York, said his firm had turned a $25,000 welfare fund over to Gold's union five or six years ago. He said that, as far as he knew, the union never had used the fund for the benefit of its members.

In the espionage investigation reports circulated that the Un-American Activities Committee yesterday questioned an American girl who once worked for two Soviet ambassadors here. She was said to have been secretary to the late Constantin Oumansky and to Andrei Gromyko when they were ambassadors to the United States.

Members of the committee would not say whether she was among several witnesses who testified in secret session.

When Groves left the room after being closeted with the committee for two hours he told reporters he had no idea why he had been brought into the espionage inquiry. Asked if he knew anything about the charge of Representative McDowell (R., Pa.) that more than a ton of uranium metal, uranium compounds and heavy water was flown to Russia in 1943 when he was head of atomic development, Groves said:

"I didn't ship any and I am sure I would not have shipped any under the circumstances."

Groves added that he knew of no other official who had authority to authorize such shipments.

"Had I known about it and wanted to get in the way of it," he said, "I imagine I could have got in the way of it—probably."

Chairman Thomas (R., N. J.) told reporters a scientist was called in after Groves testified to examine "certain documents" in connection with "the atomic bomb and this espionage case."

"I am not free to give the name of the scientist," he added. "He likely will be called at a public hearing."

Unionists Defeat 'Self-Defense' Move

Margate, England, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—The British Trades Union Congress today voted down by a narrow majority a resolution declaring that British civil servants suspected of being Communists or Fascists should have the right of self-defense.

and French Foreign Ministers meet on the Italian colonies question before September 15. The Italian treaty fixes that date as the deadline for an agreement among the Big Four on what is to be done about Somaliland, Eritrea and Libia. In event there is no agreement, the treaty states that the question should be referred to the United Nations for settlement.

The Russian note declared: "While expressing a readiness to participate in a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers on the fate of the former Italian colonies, the United States Government declared that a representative of the Secretary of State would be authorized to participate in it, which implies a refusal of the Secretary of State to participate in the meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers, which makes impossible the convening of the Council of Foreign Ministers for discussion of this problem."

"Despite the fact this reply of the United States Government is not in conformity with the peace treaty with Italy," the Russian note said, "the Soviet government will not object to a conference of representatives of the four powers inasmuch as the governments of France and Great Britain will consent to this."

It was reported in Washington yesterday that Marshall is not due to arrive in Paris until September 19 to attend the opening of the U. N. General Assembly September 21.

Lawyer Group to Send 25 to U. S. Red Trials

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 10 (U.P.). — The International Association of Democratic Lawyers ended its five-day congress today by voting to send a team of legal observers to the forthcoming Communist trials in the United States.

Two hundred lawyers from 21 nations approved unanimously a resolution expressing "grave concern" over the indictment of American Communist leaders in New York.

Legion to Demand State Bonus

Ocean City, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP).—Maryland American Legion members voted at their State convention today to demand a State bonus up to $500 for World War II veterans.

When the important test vote came, on a motion to table it, 77 delegations voted against tabling and only 21 were in favor of killing the proposal.

The resolution was submitted by the Frostburg Post and went to the resolutions committee along with a similar measure from another unit.

When it was reported out to the floor, Charles Reed, a World War II veteran from Bel Air, spoke in opposition.

He said Maryland is not in a financial position to pay such a bonus. The fact that the State has to have a sales tax, he said, indicates it doesn't have enough resources to pay a bonus.

John F. Rowe, member of the Frostburg Post, said his organization took a poll and found 45,000 veterans were in favor of the bonus.

It is the sales tax, he declared, that has given Maryland enough revenue to pay a bonus.

Nelson G. Tyman, 50-year-old veteran of both world wars and a member of the Cheverly Post in the Prince Georges County suburbs of Washington, proposed an amendment extending the bonus to World War I veterans.

Discussion of this proposal held up the vote and Tyman finally agreed to withdraw it.

The 40 and 8, the Legion's horseplay organization, elected Thomas E. Williams of Frederick as its grande chef de gare. Williams succeeds Charles G. Smith of Cumberland, who was elected a 40 and 8 national executive committeeman. Soffer, Frederick, grande correspondent; Ray Burke, Suitland, grande commissaire intendante, and J. Charles Fagan, Baltimore, grande avocat.

Others elected were J. Albert

Secretary of State Marshall yesterday advised 31 new foreign service officers always to keep in touch with "the home folks" and "the spirit of the country" while serving abroad.

He had visited many of the posts to which they were being assigned, Marshall told the men, before presenting their commissions. The ceremony marked their graduation from a nine-week training course in the State Department's Foreign Service Institute.

The class valedictory was delivered by Peyton A. Kerr of 421 Argyle dr., Alexandria, Va., a former professor of economics at George Washington University. Kerr is head of the foreign service review course at George Washington which is now preparing 69 college graduates and students for the foreign service examinations at the end of this month.

Kerr is 1 of 11 in the class from Washington and nearby Maryland and Virginia; will leave soon for New Delhi to asume a post as the first secretary of the embassy, under Loy Henderson.

The other men with homes in the Washington area and their assigned posts are:

Downtown Parking

Capital Transit is entitled to a reasonable hearing on its request to eliminate parking on F st. to facilitate its new shuttle bus service connecting fringe parking lots with downtown. Washington's parking dilemma has become no better fast. The shuttle service to be inaugurated September 20 is an experiment to induce shoppers and others to leave their cars at low-rate parking lots outside the business district. Two such lots will become part of the plan initially; the use of another is being held up by zoning difficulties. For the fringe lots to accomplish their purpose, however, it is essential to have rapid transit downtown. Continued parking on F st. between 8th and 15th sts. would seriously hamper the new bus line.

The elimination of approximately 70 parking spaces, serving an estimated 450 motorists daily, is of course no joke for harassed drivers looking for a convenient spot to leave their autos. But as a principal business thoroughfare, F st. is one of the city's most crowded arteries. This already narrow street is used for several important streetcar routes. The addition of buses on 10-minute schedules during the day will further crowd the street and result in numerous bottlenecks unless the buses are able to get over to the curb easily. It is not sensible to let the convenience of a few motorists impede service of potential benefit to a great many shoppers. Downtown parking is a luxury, and most merchants have agreed that the most efficient use of the city's streets can be had through the plan combining speedy shuttle service with outlying parking lots. This is one of the prices Washington must pay for becoming a big city. The problem can best be met by public cooperation in making the new fringe lot program a success.

Darkness In Georgia

Herman Talmadge has come back, as he promised he would do, to the Georgia governship which he held illegally for 67 days early in 1947 after his father died just a month prior to assuming the office. In Wednesday's Democratic Party primary the equivalent of an election under Georgia's one-party system, Talmadge defeated Gov. M. E. Thompson not only under the county unit system which had made his victory a foregone conclusion anyway but even in terms of popular votes. He won as an extreme advocate of "white supremacy," of opposition to President Truman's civil rights program and of all the know-nothing bigotry and demagoguery of which his father was one of the South's leading exemplars. The Talmadge triumph is likely to turn back the clock and hold it still in Georgia for a long time to come.

In the September issue of Harper's Magazine, a Georgia journalist, Calvin Kytle, analyzes the social, political and economic circumstances accounting for the primary's outcome. His peculiarly timely article, A Long, Dark Night for Georgia? explains that the Democratic primary, like the State Legislature, is rigged through the county-unit system to give absolute control to the rural areas of the State. "The half million residents of Atlanta's Fulton County, for instance, carry no more weight at the polls than the 45,000 people of Troup County . . . Only about 80 of the 159 counties have adopted a secret ballot . . . Votes often are sold for a dollar and a slug of stump rum; the dead and insane are voted; returns frequently are not counted at all, but concocted."

The future does not look very bright for Georgia. Because he did not scruple to use force when he temporarily seized the governorship in 1947, it is widely expected that Talmadge, once armed with the legal powers of office, will employ force ruthlessly to keep his clique in control. He has made no bones about his intention to disfranchise Negroes completely, no matter what the Supreme Court may say about it. The Ku Klux Klan made itself evident in the campaign for his nomination and is likely to flourish under his protection.

Mr. Kytle sees hope only in the formation of a new liberal party—not Henry Wallace's—seeking support among organized labor, among the one million Negroes and among the white middle class of the cities. But labor is weak in Georgia, the Negroes are helpless, and there is serious doubt that the mass of white-collar Georgians would enter into alliance with either of them. "At best," concludes Mr. Kytle, "their task would have to be reckoned in years. At worst, it might be smothered almost immediately under a Talmadge reign of terror, which could make Georgia liberals just as helpless as those of Louisiana under Huey Long."

De Gaulle's Ideas

The press conference novitiate of a public official whose utterances are fateful in international relations must be somewhat unnerving. Mr. Paul G. Hoffman is in such a role, but he is acquitting himself well in his initial experience with the newspaper reporters. He could easily have upset a Franco-American applecart when he was confronted yesterday with an inquiry about General de Gaulle. After saying that there would be no ECA aid for a Communist France, he was asked what would be done in the event of a regime that was "authoritarian in the other sense." The meaning was unmistakable. It was aimed at finding out American policy toward Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Mr. Hoffman refused to talk about De Gaulle's chances, but said that no aid would be given to a "Fascist counterpart of a Communist government," adding that he certainly did not think De Gaulle could be put in any such category.

How this question and answer will be reported in France, we don't know. (Remember how some British papers labeled Mr. Hoffman as an economic czar of England merely because he accepted Sir Stafford Cripps' invitation to name a couple of Americans to an advisory committee in England on technological improvement?) The Communists in France will doubtless try to distort anything that is said in America on General de Gaulle. And the people themselves, in a state of jitters over the uncertainty about their government, must be particularly susceptible to propaganda. The nerveless wrestling with the problem of trying to set up a government, on top of economic trials and spiritual malaise, has been profoundly discouraging to friends of France. In some other countries men who till M. Queuille was confirmed yesterday by the National Assembly, were half in office and half out, as French ministers recently have been, would doubtless stiffen their stand in the face of aggression within and aggression without. The story of Mr. Churchill's dispatch to the Middle East of anti-aircraft guns that could ill be spared in England in the dark days of 1940 is a case in point. Soviet officials would be equally brash. Indeed, we have an idea that the very weakness in Soviet Europe is the reason for the fresh belligerency of Soviet diplomacy in Berlin. French logic and intellectuality, however, forbid the bluffing and poker play that other peoples would exhibit in a situation such as the French find themselves in. Recognition of their temporary weakness, in other words, is reflected in their handling of their foreign problems.

This is adding, clearly, to the difficulties that the Western Allies are confronting in Berlin, both in the strengthening of the Soviet position and in the weakening of the Western position. To be sure, there is a tradition of continuity of ministerial responsibility in France, but such a tradition, in present circumstances, cannot cope with great decisions. And the Western Allies appear to be in the zone of great decisions. The general hope among the Allies must be what we said nearly a year ago—that if a new start is the only way to overcome the crisis in France, the sooner it comes the better. Certainly new elections would endanger internal peace. But the alternative is a progressive loss of authority as the result of the reduction of government to a game of musical chairs—a process that is bound sooner or later to injure gravely not only France but all the Western Allies.

The major fact in the situation in France is that De Gaulle has been vindicated when he said two years ago that the present constitution is unworkable. His ideas would give more authority to the executive, but not more than the American executive has. Yet this is the reason that the question has been raised in America about De Gaulle's authoritarianism—that and De Gaulle's unwillingness to expound his policy and the knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt didn't like him. We don't know what plans De Gaulle has got, what is in his mind. But we do know that the recent paralysis in France, which arose because recent coalitions were no longer representative and were afraid to face the people in whose name they claim to be representative, has become a question of survival. We likewise know that De Gaulle in office was addicted to constitutional forms and out of office is waging a campaign in behalf of a workable constitution. This record, at any rate, does not show the dictator. And, that being so, it is unfair to anticipate anything of the sort, for the very suspicion will make France's task and our task that much more difficult. Mr. Hoffman did well unhesitatingly and emphatically to scotch any notion that a government headed by De Gaulle would be excluded from Marshall aid.

U. N. Guard Force

Everyone who helps the United Nations grow is, in our opinion, a friend of peace. The most recent suggestion for girding the U. N. for its great task is the creation of an international guard force of several thousand men to be drawn from many nations. It comes from the Commission to Study the Organization of Peace, an affiliate of the American Association for the United Nations, and is in line with a suggestion previously made by Secretary General Trygve Lie. The proposal is very modest. It is not to be confused with the more ambitious, and more important, effort to create a United Nations police force. The U. N. guard force would be only "administrative and protective" in function. Yet it would be of inestimable usefulness in supervising a truce arranged by the U. N., as in Palestine, in conducting plebiscites, observing elections and guarding territory under U. N. control. Perhaps even more important would be its symbolic significance as an instrument of world law.

Of course, such a force could not arrest aggression. For that all-important task there is no substitute for an international police force under control of a strengthened United Nations and, in the interim, a common defense policy among the democratic powers under Article 51 of the Charter. But a U. N. guard force could be of enormous value in preventing minor incidents and in training men from many nations to work together under the direction of a supernational agency. One of the few symbols of hope in the present melange of distrust and provocative gestures is the jeep patrol in the international zone of Vienna, each jeep carrying an American, a Russian, a British and a French guard who talk with each other in broken German. The people of all nations desperately need experience in working together in the routine tasks of peace, and every mechanism for this purpose thus acquires a double significance. Here is one step that the forthcoming Paris session of the General Assembly should be able to take without dissent from a single peace-loving state.

The Prices You Pay

The fall in wholesale and retail prices of butter noted in Washington and other Eastern cities coincides with the prediction of three national farm organizations that lower food prices are on the way as the result of bumper grain crops. With respect to butter, the decline ought to be welcomed by producers as well as consumers, for butter has just about been priced out of the reach of the average family. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics forecasts that per capita butter consumption this year will be the lowest in at least a century, or about 10.2 pounds per person as compared with 17.6 pounds in 1935-39. Margarine consumption, on the other hand, is up from a prewar per capita average of 2.9 pounds to approximately 6 pounds.

This change in eating habits ought to be causing butter producers some deep concern. For while there is no doubt that many people retain a preference for butter, margarine has made large inroads, some of which probably will be permanent. Improved products have combined with modern packaging techniques to make margarine—at approximately half the price of butter—more than acceptable in many households. At the same time, the factors governing butter production probably will make impossible a large increase in butter marketing to recoup the loss in the near future. Although milk output per cow has increased substantially, the average size of dairy herds is the lowest in a decade.

Because of this, butter is hardly an accurate index of what will happen to the price of other commodities. The huge corn and wheat crops anticipated this year ultimately must result in lower consumer prices for many farm commodities. The farm organizations wisely warn, however, not to expect too precipitate a drop. For example, consumer prices do not yet reflect the fact that prices paid farmers now average about 10 per cent below this year's peak. High processing and transportation costs also figure in the retail totals.

The meat problem is particularly susceptible to misunderstanding. More available grain at lower prices will bring an expansion in the number of animals fed. But livestock numbers are down, and it will take time to rebuild herds. There is some indication that more animals are being held on farms for late feeding this year. That may bring a slight decline in meat prices this coming winter, though until then beef prices temporarily may go higher. But the first genuine break for the consumer probably will not occur until the marketing of the 1949 pig crop next fall.

As a matter of fact, too rapid a decline in farm prices might injure rather than benefit the consumer. For farm prices are in delicate balance with the rest of the economy. As the farm organizations point out, "a continuing farm price decline, while the prices of other products continue to rise, would result in a collapse." The hope of forestalling such a calamity lies in a gradual fall in farm prices reflected in lower prices of the manufactured goods that the farmer must buy.

Did You Know?

A Communist minority, once in power, is capable of waging a terrorist campaign of "repressions, mass arrests and murders" to "crush the will of the . . . majority." This statement may not sound particularly heretical to our readers. But it is. For the quotations come not from any rabid anti-Communist publication but from Pravda, organ of the Central Committee of the All-Russian Communist Party. Since Pravda means "truth," at least to Russians, and Pravda is the horse's mouth to Communists everywhere, we feel reasonably confident that no well-brought-up Communist will dare dispute its accuracy.

The trouble, of course, is that Pravda was not talking about Communists of the proper, or all-for-Russia, variety. It was not even talking about Communist minorities, but about minorities of Communist minorities. Specifically, the complaint from Moscow is a castigation of the Tito, or something-for-Yugoslavia, brand of Marxists. These unspeakable people, it seems, have no respect for the democratic rights of what the Kremlin thinks is the majority of Yugoslav Communists. Pravda doesn't say anything about the rights of the majority of Yugoslav people, a glaring omission in this ringing defense of majority rule.

Just which faction is in the majority of the Yugoslav Communist minority—if you follow us—matters little. The pot and the kettle are equally black and equally hypocritical in even alluding to the principle of majority rule. Even without Pravda's timely reminder, non-Communists have long known that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness have no standing under totalitarianism, either for the majority or for the minority.

"Freedom For Heretics"

Representative Charles Kersten's September 7 letter criticizing your editorial of September 3, "Freedom For Heretics," was both astounding and dismaying. He thinks the editor of The Washington Post is confused. It is evident to any student of American Government that it is the Representative who is confused.

To avoid misunderstanding I want to make it plain that I am a Christian who believes that the Bible is the Word of God, and, as such, am opposed to all forms of unbelief. Nevertheless, I am in favor of letting Christianity and atheism have a fair field for open discussion. I am sure faith will win over unbelief without any governmental help. Some of the leading agnostics of our time are now seeking the anchor of religious faith. Dr. Cyril E. M. Joad is a notable example of those who have returned to religion.

Representative Kersten confuses the duty we owe to man with the duty we owe to God. He should study the words of Roger Williams, the great apostle of soul liberty, who first enunciated the American belief in full freedom of conscience. Williams told the Puritans that man had no right to legislate on the first four commandments, the "first table of the law," but had jurisdiction only over the overt acts of "the second table," such as murder, theft, and adultery. Later Roger Williams founded Rhode Island where all, regardless of belief, could live and work in peace.

The fact is that Jefferson, Madison, Franklin, and the other founders of our Nation did not intend to establish our Government on a religious basis. They founded a lay republic, not a clerical state. The mere technical quibbling over the meaning of the First Amendment ignores the fact that they were seeking to guarantee the full freedom of conscience of our citizens to believe or to disbelieve any doctrine or religion. Our Government is neither religious nor anti-religious; it is neutral. James Madison said, "Religion is not in the purview of human government."

It is important that our legislators clear up the confusion in their minds on this issue. The Congressional Library could surely supply them with the writings of our revolutionary forebears. Or is that un-American?

Capitalism Condemned

The language of the report issued by the World Council of Churches condemning both capitalism and communism equally was finally amended to read, "Uncontrolled capitalism and communism."

Maybe now the Un-American Activities Committee will investigate Christianity, enabling its activity to continue right up to election day.

But isn't there reason for thinking people to associate this "controlled" capitalism idea with Henry A. Wallace's "progressive capitalism" which he offers? Our experience is that when capitalism "progresses," its movement is in the direction of monopoly and cartellism. Likewise capitalism is extremely difficult to "control." Rather capitalism eventually manages, either directly or indirectly, to control everything in sight, including governments, not to say the churches in many cases.

"Progressive" and "controlled" in relation to capitalism are dangerously "weasel words," words not particularly useful in this time of world crisis.

Wallace's Stand

A front-page story in your issue of September 6 says that the United Textile Workers Union (CIO) charges that the Progressives seek the defeat of the liberals. If the union had said Communists I would have been in complete agreement. It has long been evident to me that the Communists discredit every decent liberal movement they can by indorsing it.

They deliberately ruined Henry Wallace's presidential chances by indorsing his party, introducing the customary "fraction," and (with the able aid of a cooperative press) making that fraction's activity as noticeable as possible.

As for Wallace himself, I have listened to several of his speeches all the way through rather than rely on the misrepresentations which always follow them, and have heard nothing to indicate that he is a Communist. I see no relationship between Wallace's desire for peace if possible with the one country with which there is immediate danger of war and the accusations that he follows the party line or takes orders from Moscow; if he can disagree with Moscow on genetics, it stands to reason he can disagree elsewhere.

"Schism In The South"

In your September 5 editorial on the Dixiecrats you deplored the fact that the two-party system had broken down for at least the time being, a sentiment in which I join, because one of the great troubles in Europe has been the existence of a number of parties, each pulling for its own individual interests, as against the whole or general interest of the country.

There is an element in this country that is bent on sapping all powers from the States and concentrating them in the Federal Government. This is responsible for the split in the Democratic Party. The basic and fundamental tenet of that party's faith has been States' rights. While this principle was respected, there never was a chance of any third party forming with any considerable strength.

Because of the great threat to States' rights, this new constitutional Democratic Party has come into being, and is, in its essence, the real Democratic Party of our forefathers, as well as ourselves. The South became the Solid South solely on that ground.

This attack on the present Federal Government upon the States is an attack upon those of our forefathers who defeated the infamous Force bill. It was a repudiation of every leader and all the efforts since the Civil War of the Democratic Party. Those responsible for the breaking down of our two-party system are those who are violating the Constitution for selfish political purposes.

Inside Germany

The following is an excerpt of a letter from a woman who is a refugee in the United States zone of Germany. Because of her German blood she had to leave her home in Prague, give up all her possessions—even her wedding ring—and return to Germany. She obtained my name and address from an American serviceman and wrote to me for aid, as she was unable to obtain the little food her ration card should have given. Her great concern is that her health will break down because of undernourishment. She is 40 years of age, knows English and French and is able to obtain work, so is much better off than the refugees held in camps. The letter is sent from Munich.

"We all are now much concerned about the next presidential election in the States and we hope that whoever will become President, the foreign policy will not change much, for we all know that if the United States will not take a firm stand in European affairs, we will at once be swallowed up by the Russians. Now they try it with Berlin, and if they succeed here, the next would be Vienna and all Austria and then it would be our turn.

"Life in Berlin is very trying right now. As I am working as a telephone operator I often talk with the operators in Berlin on the phone. There is very little water, very little coal and electric current for private use is only during one or two hours at night. They never know at what time the current will run, sometimes at 11 o'clock, sometimes at 2 o'clock, etc., so they have to sleep in turns and one of the family has always to watch when the current is on, and then everything must quickly be cooked—the potatoes, the soup, etc., for the next current will be available only in about 24 hours.

"But the Berlin population is accustomed to things like that. They had a very hard time when, at the end of the war, the Russians besieged and took the town. There is nothing they would not gladly endure, if only the Americans would stay in Berlin and not give it up. It is not so bad with provisions, they have now better rations than we, but we are all glad about it and hope they will hold out.

"I don't believe in a war; the Russians cannot afford to make war against the United States, and I am sure Stalin is not as mad as Hitler was. They try to reach their aims with their well-known political practices, and up till now they have been pretty successful.

"We know very well, what a dreadful reputation the German name got through the Hitler regime, but believe me, the population did not know and had nothing to do with those atrocities in the concentration camps. They were kept carefully secret from the population and when there was a whispered rumor, people were honestly convinced that that was enemy propaganda.

"Nothing was in the papers and nobody dared to listen to foreign broadcasts because there was a death penalty on that and everybody was convinced that the authorities could find out foreign listeners.

"I lost my own husband through the Nazi terror and knew about the terrors in the concentration camps, because in Prague we dared many things, the people in Germany didn't dare, but when I went to see my mother who lived in the Lindetenland (the part of Czechoslovakia which was inhabited by Germans) she was horrified when I told her what was going on in Germany and implored me not to report such enemy lies. My brothers were positively angry with me and advised me not to say a word of such nonsense to other people or I would be shot within 24 hours.

"It is astonishing, but it is true, that a whole big country can be kept in complete ignorance about the truth with a good propaganda and terror. Even today many people do not and will not believe those dreadful things."

Washington Calling

Men Behind Wallace

AS THE months have passed since Henry Wallace announced that he would run for President on a third-party ticket, the real objective of the managers of the third-party movement has become all too clear. It is to present the country with an ultimate choice between extreme left and extreme right.

In other words, the objective is to shut out the hope for a middle way of compromise. The men and women behind Wallace do not believe in the American system. It is a cornerstone of their faith that the system under which we live must inevitably go down in ruin.

As the objective has become clear, so has the popular support for Wallace declined. If the election had been held last January, I believe Wallace would have polled a large vote—perhaps as high as 10 million.

Today all indications are for a vote under 5,000,000, and possibly as low as 3,500,000 or 4,000,000. No longer can smug, old-line Republicans be confident that the Wallace party will guarantee victory to the Dewey-Warren ticket regardless of what the ticket may or may not stand for.

Despite the decline in popular following, the hard core of the third-party movement remains unchanged. It is composed of Communists and fellow travelers. At the same time, thousands of sincere men and women who are not Communists or even fellow travelers continue to believe that the salvation must come through Wallace.

NOW AND then the managers close to Wallace have been startlingly frank about their real aims. An episode that was revealing in more ways than one occurred some time ago.

A man of genuinely liberal convictions was asked by one of the Wallace insiders to state whether he was with them or not. Since he is the head of an organization with a sizable membership, and his word would carry weight with that membership, his answer was of more than passing importance to the third party.

Having just seen at first hand in Europe the ferocity of the Communists toward social democracy, he replied that he would not be for Wallace and the third party. The response from the Wallace insider was an angry denunciation that went something like this:

"It's so-and-so's like you who try to sit on the fence who will get it from both sides. If the Facists come to power, they will certainly do away with you. And if we come in, you don't need to think for a moment that we're going to spare you. You're through."

That put it just about as nakedly as it could be put. I thought of that episode during a conversation I had with an earnest, hard-working Republican Senator who likes to think of himself as a liberal. The Senator wondered what was the long-range goal of the men behind Wallace.

IT SEEMS to me there should be no doubt in anyone's mind about that goal. The Wallace managers regard the Democratic Party as a hopeless anomaly that is rapidly passing into the discard. They are convinced that the GOP is the party of reaction, which is bound to bring the country to fascism.

They intend that America shall be faced with a choice between republicanism, as they define it, and the left, as they will manage it. In order to hasten that day they are deliberately seeking to defeat all liberal, middle-ground candidates running on the Democratic ticket.

"But we don't intend," said my Republican friend plaintively, "to let the Republican Party go reactionary. We intend to make it a truly progressive party."

Certainly, the opportunity is there. It is an opportunity such as few men and few parties have ever had. It is the surest way to thwart those who believe the choice in this country is between two violent extremes.

Already the common sense of the American people has begun to assert itself. The efforts of the Communist-run third party to defeat truly progressive candidates, whether Republican or Democratic, are not likely to succeed.

In Illinois the Wallace party has been ruled off the ballot for failure to comply with election statutes. This gives a better chance to Paul Douglas, running for Senator, and Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for Governor opposing Dwight Green, who has been the convenient servant of the McCormick wing of the GOP. The trend away from the third party is more pronounced than anyone could have predicted a few months ago. It is a hopeful sign of political maturity.

Housecleaning

Mr. Truman says that he does not protect Communists in Government service. No one who knows Mr. Truman would believe that he would deliberately protect the enemies of our Government. However the general public notes that whenever Congress creates a new agency where huge Government expenditures are to be made Communists or fellow travelers show up in the head and front of the people who staff such agencies. Why? Some one appoints them and some one moves heaven and earth to keep them there. That is why the mass of the people are convinced that nothing short of Mr. Dewey's promised house cleaning at Washington can rid us of these vermin.

Heretics' Freedom

A Communication

I WOULD appreciate the courtesy of being permitted to comment on an editorial in The Washington Post of September 3, entitled, "Freedom for Heretics." Reference is made there to a statement which I submitted to the congressional committee investigating the Federal Communication Commission's ruling on radio broadcasts in support of atheism.

I am aware that the limitations of newspaper space do not permit complete and detailed reporting of an incident such as the recent hearing. Since, however, the editorial takes exception to certain of my contentions I feel that it is incumbent on me to clarify my position, which I submit has not been fully stated by the editorial writer.

1. The issue is not freedom or limitation of freedom for heretics or dissenters; the substantive and very vital issue is the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission over the program content of the license of a broadcasting station.

Personally I have never, in any public utterance, written word, or private thought, denied the right of an atheist, a Communist, an agnostic or a dialectical materialist to express his views publicly under the American system. I am wholly in agreement with the contention that bad ideas are best combated by good ideas and I have debated with dissenters over a long period of years.

Those who deny the existence of God have guaranteed liberty in this country to express publicly their convictions under the usual limitations of public morality and personal responsibility for libel. Atheists already have a large measure of freedom in the area of doctrine, free speech, and free press.

I will even go so far as to say that the atheists of America could present many legal arguments for the setting up of a specific radio station at their own expense and utilizing it for the dissemination of their views, always of course under the reservations imposed by public order. And in the case of radio stations owned and operated exclusively by Government, they would have a much stronger case in law for demanding time—though the claim would be highly debatable in view of the special nature and social consequences of their doctrines.

2. I TAKE strong objection, however, to the spectacle of a Federal commission entering into the field of theology and apologetics. Policy making in such an area is a highly explosive undertaking and is best left to the legislative and judicial functions of Government. That the commission was unusually reckless in the extraordinary ruling in the Scott case must be evident from a careful reading of its long and amazing disquisition on the subject of the nature of God in its decision on July 19, 1946.

This regrettable performance, characterized by Professor Calhoun of Yale as "pathetically incompetent . . . naive . . . rambling," has thrown the radio industry into such turmoil that many stations are wondering whether or not it would be better to exclude all religious programs from the air and thus escape the covert threats and innuendoes of displeasure contained in the language of the Scott decision.

The question which I submitted to the congressional committee was whether or not the FCC had acted ultra vires in engaging in the amount of polemics and veiled intimidation of the radio industry as must be evident from a reading of the text. That the error of the decision and the dynamite in the adventure was evidently recognized within the commission itself is now revealed by the confidential memorandum, dated December 6, 1946, of Mr. Gillingham, the public relations officer of the Federal Communications Commission.

This document, supplied from the files of the commission, was publicly read at the hearing on September 1. It is evidence of at least one very practical and alert person at the very center of this unnecessary controversy. Mr. Gillingham, in forthright language, advised the commissioners that they were in very hot water, had made a sally into a touchy territory, and had written a state document in order to give a negative answer in such an insignificant case.

3. THERE IS a confusion of issue in the editorial's repetition of the thought that time must not be refused by a licensee because he disagrees with the views of atheists or because they are few in number. Such a motive plays no part in my personal attitude. Neither was it the controlling reason for the refusal of time by private stations. In that use of discretion they are acting within the rights conferred upon them by law. Under existing legislation, as I read it, the Federal Communications Commission has no jurisdiction over the program content of specific broadcasts which are left to the judgment and responsibility of the stations. Their refusal was based on much broader grounds than personal prejudice.

4. THE editorial takes the position that the existence of God is a present controversial topic within the meaning of the law defining the powers of the Federal Communications Commission. However much debated in the perspectives of social history and in the evolution of dogma, the question—God or no God—is not a public controversial problem at the present time in the United States.

Neither is it a controversial issue in the State documents and legislative enactments of American history, in the decisions of the Supreme Court, and in the general public policy of this Government. An official and definite stand has been taken.

This does not imply any establishment of religion or abridgement of the religious freedom guaranteed in the Bill of Rights. The controversies deemed worthy of public airing under the radio laws of the United States are of the type suggested by public housing, labor relations, collective bargaining, price control, wages, inflation, the merits of candidates for public office, etc.

This does not mean that the topic of religion should not be publicly debated as a philosophy and theology of human existence. The churches and their opponents are doing that every day and by many media. So are the atheists.

The question presently at issue is a precisely limited and circumscribed case of the competency of a governmental agency to issue opinions and regulations of the type contained in the Scott decision, the trend and weight of which seek to define the quality, the quantity, and the public interest value involved in atheism versus deism. That is patently ultra vires and I am among those who cherish Jefferson's warning: "Tell your agent what he can do and what he cannot do, then watch him."

5. YOUR editorial writer of September 3 takes particular exception to my statement that it would be suicide for any government to put the sanction of its power at the disposal of doctrinces, practices and techniques of the negative character involved in the present instance. He further questions the historical accuracy of my warning to the effect that certain techniques in using freedom of speech and a fictitious liberalism have ended in the rise of godless dictatorships and the brutalizing of human personality.

To document my contention on this point—which I am prepared to do on a historical basis—obviously would require much more space than could reasonably allocated for a communication to the editor.

Elder Quinn Admits Signing 'McGuire' to Export Licenses

By Marshall Andrews
Post Reporter

Thomas P. Quinn of Jersey City yesterday identified himself as the mysterious "James A. McGuire" whose name was signed to 15 export licenses a Senate subcommittee says were forged.

Quinn also said the story his nephew, John A. Quinn, told another subcommittee about his deals in export licenses was "without foundation."

Before the elder Quinn testified, his nephew had taken the stand before a subcommittee of the Senate Executive Expenditures Committee and refused to answer a series of questions on the ground they might be incriminating. He was flanked by his lawyer, Albert A. Sann, who not only advised him against testifying but occasionally spoke up to forestall his client in refusing to answer questions.

John A. Quinn's uncle, short, portly and bald, described himself as formerly "handyman" in his nephew's import-export business at an average wage of $50 a week. As part of his work, he said, he signed the 15 licenses as James A. McGuire.

Asked by Committee Counsel William E. Rogers where he got the name, Quinn said:

"I just pulled it out of the hat."

His nephew knew, he testified, that he was using the name and described the younger man's testimony about McGuire as "false."

The witness told the committee he did not realize the licenses might have been forged until he came to Washington himself and discovered it was practically impossible to get genuine licenses. Then, he said, he "began to get suspicious of those Jack had."

The elder Quinn identified the signature, "James A. McGuire" on the register of the Washington Inn here for November 19, 1947, as having been written by himself. On the same page was his nephew's signature.

He said he had never introduced a James McGuire to Jack Quinn, as his nephew had testified, but that Jack had introduced him to several people as McGuire. He had, in fact, been presented to the Senate Small Business Committee as McGuire, he declared.

Quinn denied knowledge of a telegram sent the Expenditures subcommittee from Boston signed "James A. McGuire," and said he had "never been in Boston in my life." He added that he had never seen the telegram.

Quinn was followed by a former official of the Office of International Trade who told the subcommittee he had approved licenses for exporting excessive amounts of scarce materials and twice had altered records. He was Peter Lektrich, who told the subcommittee he resigned his job as chief of the OIT building materials section when the alterations were discovered.

Amounts Excessive

Lektrich testified he validated a license in March, 1947, for Robert Mistrough of New York to export soil pipe, soil pipe fittings, water closets, toilets and lavatories. Amounts authorized for shipment, he said, were excessive.

When he later discovered Mistrough was offering these commodities for sale with licenses, Lektrich said he called the exporter and asked him to return the license. Mistrough told him, he said, that he already had shipped most of the pipe and much of the fixtures, and Lektrich altered the records to reduce the volume authorized.

The former OIT official testified that on another occasion he had altered the duplicate of a license issued to Mistrough and destroyed the original. Some of the materials covered by that license also had been shipped, he said.

Chairman Ferguson (R., Mich.) of the subcommittee said after the hearing that enough scarce materials had been exported under the two licenses to build 2700 homes.

Department Chided

Ferguson and Senator Bricker (R., Ohio), during yesterday's hearings chided the Department of Commerce, under which the OIT operates, for what they said was laxity in prosecution of alleged export license frauds. Their rebuke was addressed to Nathan Ostroff, counsel, and Wallace S. Thomas, foreign trade director.

Their scolding followed testimony by Ira A. Gullickson, Metropolitan Police examiner of questioned documents, which cast doubt on the authenticity of license applications filed by Murray M. Nelson, Inc., of New York. Ostroff, who had listened to Gullickson's testimony, told the subcommittee he already had directed that all of the Nelson's firm's licenses be suspended until they could be investigated.

Ferguson said the subcommittee would resume hearings next Wednesday.

Dewey Cool On Revercomb

sion in July. The principal change urged by Dewey was lifting of the present ban on displaced persons who entered the camps after 1945.

House Republican leaders agreed to make the change but Senate leaders could not budge Revercomb.

Revercomb is now engaged in the race of his life against former Senator Matthew M. Neely (D.), with DP "discrimination" one of the principal charges being hurled at him by the Democrats.

Following todays conference with Dewey, Hallanan told reporters that Democrats now have a 200,000 registration edge in the State but said Dewey can easily swing the State, particularly if he speaks there.

"We can carry the entire ticket, because, we win from the top down" was the way he put it.

Excellent Otherwise

Aside from the DP rift, he described GOP prospects in West Virginia as excellent. He said the State's large mine-worker vote, that consistently supported Roosevelt, "won't go for Truman" because of the Administration crackdown on UMW Chief John L. Lewis.

En route to New York to Albany, Governor Dewey dictated the final draft of the campaign-opening speech he will deliver in Des Moines, Iowa, September 20. This first Dewey speech was described as "general in character." When he leaves Albany September 19 he will carry rough outlines of his other major speeches. In 1944 he wrote all of his speeches en route.

Further details of his itinerary remained indisclosed, but Dewey headquarters confirmed he will cross Truman's trail and speak shortly after him at several points. They reiterated Dewey mapped his itinerary a month ago and the proximity to Truman's route is sheer accident.

From Des Moines, the Governor will head centrally west and then take the southern route to the coast.

Old Israel Honor

Shortly after Dewey arrived in New York City he was presented with a gold life membership card in the home of Old Israel and was cited by the organization for his "efforts in the interest of humanity and the brotherhood of man." Others who have been similarly cited were the late Franklin Roosevelt and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Earlier, Brig. Gen. Julius Klein, national commander of the American Jewish War Veterans, told a press conference Governor Dewey authorized him to say he favors immediate de jure recognition of the new state of Israel, economic aid to Israel, and lifting of the embargo on arms if the Arabs violate the Palestinian truce or reopen hostilities. Dewey headquarters said the Governor had no comment.

Wallace Hits At 'Fascism'

some stops. "I learned what prejudice and hatred can mean."

"Spared Full Force"

"I learned to know the face of violence, although I was spared the full force of violence," he said. "I saw the ugly reality of how hate and prejudice can warp good men and women; turn Christian gentlemen into raving beasts; turn good mothers and wives into Jezebels."

He added:

"To me fascism is no longer a second-hand experience—a motion picture, a photograph, or the deeply moving words of a great writer.

"It is no longer a mere definition of an economic and political system in which freedom is stifled by private power; in which prejudices are bred and nourished; in which man is set against man for the profit of powerful and greedy forces."

However, the former Vice President said the eggs and tomatoes and "ugly spewings of hate and prejudice" were not the most important things on his campaign swing.

"The significance of our Southern trip," he said, "lies in the two dozen completely unsegregated, peaceful meetings which we were able to hold."

Wallace told the crowd, "The surest proof that we of the Progressive Party are not impractical in our politics is in the alliances of hate which have been formed against us."

"Some of the liberals, some of the pied pipers of labor will tell us that they have compromised because Roosevelt compromised," he said. "But they slander a great man when they draw that comparison.

"Roosevelt, by the deftest political maneuvering in all history, made many a political deal, but always advancing the cause of the common man.

"The men who are bargaining with corruption today hope for no gains, no advancements. They are bargaining to minimize losses."

The Progressive Party's "'No Sale' sign has earned us many names," Wallace said. "But it does not matter if they call us red or black, if they lie about us or egg us or stone us. We will not join the Republican-Democratic poker match which governs out of the backroom—from the bottom of the deck."

"We are those who stand against the course which leads to war," he said.

"We are those who would take from the hands of monopoly the power to say who shall starve and who shall feast.

"We are those who protest a policy toward minority groups that is administered by a policeman's nightstick.

"We are those who feel attacked whenever the color of man's skin or the color of his political beliefs is the official excuse for brutality, whether in Mississippi or Harlem, whether at home or abroad."

The former vice president said that, in addition to hate and violence, he found in the South much courage and "the kind of real, deep human fighting spirit which promises a new day for the South and for the world."

English Learn Baseball From Alexandrian

By Alice Denny Robinson
Special to The Post

London, Sept. 10.—Alexander (Sandy) Zabriskie, jr., of Alexandria, Va., has spent the summer teaching baseball to London East End kids.

Rather than stay at home at Alexandria, where his father is dean of the Theological Seminary, Sandy joined 15 other young Americans who came to work in the London slums as Winant Volunteers.

He will return to the United States September 12 on the SS Ernie Pyle.

The man behind the volunteer scheme is the Rev. Philip (Tubby) Clayton, vicar of Tower Hill's blitzed All Hallows Church and founder of the international fellowship Toc H.

Because the late Ambassador John G. Winant took a deep interest in the area, the volunteers who came to help were named for him.

Sandy became a recruit for the volunteers after Mr. Clayton talked about the plan at Groton School. The only qualifications were a desire to do social work and to improve Anglo-American relations. Volunteers paid their own way. Toc H provided the lodging.

"Are You an American?"

The boys worked in settlement houses, boys' clubs and camps. Some distributed books in hospitals and others acted as lifeguards for children swimming in the dirty Thames.

Sandy started a boys' club. It began when boys, about 10 to 12, pestered him for candy, gum and stamps. "Are you one of the Americans?" they asked.

"A few of us decided to teach them baseball on the small open patch in front of All Hallows Church, rather than let them run in the streets," Sandy explained. "We found a playground nearby. A mat was used for boxing and general rough house. Aside from a few swings, a see-saw and slide, there wasn't much," he said.

Model Airplanes Popular

"Making model airplanes became the most popular activity of the 80-odd boys we organized," he said. "As for baseball," he laughed, "you'd be surprised how hard the kids can hit that ball."

Mr. Clayton told the volunteer workers that few Americans ever go east of the Tower of London. Eastenders, he said, get most of their ideas about Americans from grade F movies and the Communists. They think America is a great, big industrial nation, a money-maker without a soul. The only way to correct this impression is for Americans to meet and to work with the English people.

When the volunteers return to America, Toc H will keep the club going until more volunteers come next summer.

'Vocation of Laity'

"The Vocation of the Laity" will be the theme of the sermon Sunday at the 9:30 a. m. sung mass and 11 a. m. morning prayer at Ascension and St. Agnes Church, 12th st. and Massachusetts ave. nw. The rector, the Rev. Albert J. DuBois, will preach at both services.

$500 Fine Ordered In D.C.Re-rent Case

A Washington landlady has been ordered to pay $500 fine or serve 60 days in jail for renting out an apartment after evicting a tenant on the plea she wanted the apartment for her own use.

Mrs. Doris R. Frankfurt, 1513 28th pl. se., who drew the penalty in Municipal Court Thursday, was given until today by Judge John P. McMahon to file an appeal.

It was the first conviction on record here under the possession clause of the District Emergency Rent Act, which makes it illegal for a property owner to evict a tenant, ostensibly to acquire the living quarters for personal use, and then to rent them to another party.

Robert A. Brantley, assistant general counsel to the rent control administrator, testified at the trial that Mrs. Frankfurt lived on the second floor of the 28th pl. house, which she owned.

He said she gained possession of a first floor apartment there last April by evicting William J. McCarthy, his wife and two children, on the claim that she was going to make personal use of the apartment.

At that time, according to testimony, she had rented the apartment to McCarthy unfurnished for $46 a month. She subsequently rented it for $110 a month furnished to Lieut. Robert P. McMurty of Andrews Field, Brantley testified. Later the Rent Control Board set the rent at $70 a month.

Mrs Frankfurt testified in court that she had intended to occupy the apartment, but later changed her mind after observing noises outside the house.

Judge McMahon gave her until today to post a $500 bond and note an appeal, to pay a $500 fine, or to serve 60 days in jail.

Brentwood Violation Charged by Tenants

The Brentwood Village Tenants League yesterday charged owners of the mammoth development in Northeast Washington with "willful violation" of rent control regulations by "filing false ceilings and overcharging tenants for seven years."

The league, which claims to represent more than 400 or a majority of the tenants, also accused the management of "willful misrepresentations" at a hearing last July before the Rent Control Administration. Management representatives testified at that time in support of a petition to boost rents on 748 apartments by 10 to 20 per cent.

Armand L. Ratte, president of the league, in a letter to Rent Control Administrator Robert F. Cogswell, asked that the "facts" in the case be referred "in detail" to the United States Attorney for the District "with the recommendation that he should conduct an investigation to determine if criminal prosecution should be instituted . . ."

Cogswell said he had turned the letter over to Ernest F. Williams, general counsel for the administration, but expected little action before the return from vacation next week of the examiner in the case, William F. Mansfield.

William J. David, operator of the development, which is owned by three separate firms—Brentwood Village Corp., Brentwood Gardens, Inc., and Brentwood Development Corp. — called the charges "absolutely false." He claimed that a small "clique" of "agitators, radicals and Communists" has been stirring up trouble for years.

David said that any tenants who may have been overcharged—unwittingly—can "get checks" to make up the difference "at any time." In all, he said, rentals charged above the ceilings amount to "one-half of one per cent of rents collected."

Units of the development are in the 1300 and 1400 blocks of Saratoga ave., 1200 block of Brentwood rd., 2500 block of 14th st., and the 1400 block of Montana ave. and Downing st.

500 Oppose Greenbelt Rent Boost

More than 500 residents of Greenbelt, Md., met last night at the Center School and voted unanimous opposition to rent increases proposed by the Public Housing Administration.

The Greenbelt project is owned and operated by the Federal Government.

A resolution which will be sent to President Truman and housing officials was drafted, quoting PHA officials as the authority for a statement that rents now paid by the residents more than pay for all operating expenses of the town.

The Greenbelt residents said in the resolution that these same PHA officials now propose to increase Greenbelt rents, ostensibly to make such rents equal to those prevailing in comparable housing in the area.

Since the Federal Government has announced it will sell the entire project in the near future, the resolution stated, it could scarcely reap much profit from higher rents.

The Greenbelt residents went on record as opposing the higher rent proposal for four reasons, declaring:

1. Higher rentals will inflate the sale price of the project and make it more difficult for the tenants to purchase it.

2. The Administration and especially the President are on record as opposed to any inflationary measures. This lack of support of the President's anti-inflation stand by a branch of his Administration is "reprehensible."

3. The proposed new rent schedule is reportedly based on "comparable" housing in the area, but housing chosen for such comparison is, in fact, entirely incomparable.

4. The Federal landlord claims that Greenbelt residents should start paying for community facilities and advantages which they enjoy. Since the operation of such facilities has always been paid for out of rental income and since a surplus has been returned to the Federal treasury annually, Greenbelt residents are paying for community facilities.

18 Washingtonians Attend Catholic Meeting

Eighteen Washingtonians will take part in the twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women which begins today in New Orleans and continues through September 15. Over 5000 delegates, representing six million Catholic women in the Nation are expected to attend the conference.

Urban League Racial Work Is Praised

Richmond, Va., Sept. 10 (AP).—Urban League leadership very largely conceived and developed programs that today are accelerating the rate of interracial progress in America, delegates to the league's annual conference here were told tonight.

The speaker, Harold Lett, chief assistant of the division against discrimination of the New Jersey Department of Education, addressed the closing session of the league's five-day meeting at Virginia Union University.

"Urban League salesmanship and experimentation," Lett said, "have produced such a body of factual data that no employer or labor leader today can say that whites and Negroes cannot work together harmoniously and efficiently."

"Who is there bold enough to say that significant things aren't happening?" Lett declared. "Within three years the United States Supreme Court, the formerly conservative champion of that-which-has-been, has by its decisions disturbed cherished traditions of Jim Crow travel, lily-white education, the undemocratic institution of the white primary, and the evil pact known as the restrictive covenant."

Three hundred Urban League personnel in conference here this week gave serious attention to the internal workings of the organization in the findings and resolutions adopted by the group today. The conferees requested that the league place greater emphasis on its industrial relations program.

yield 18 bushels to the acre—compared with 18.4 last year and 16.1 for an average. The yield of potatoes, because of better farming practices, will reach the unheard-of total of 193.6 bushels an acre—almost 50 bushels an acre better than average, and almost 12 bushels an acre greater than potato-growers crowed about last year.

Not only will corn yield a quarter of a billion more bushels than ever before, but all-time record crops are promised in soybeans, peanuts, and pecans, and near-record yields in wheat, oats, flaxseed, rice, sorghum, dry beans and citrus fruits.

Larger than average crops are predicted for cotton, barley, hay, potatoes, tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets, hops, peaches, grapes, cherries and apricots.

The only crops in which a lower than average yield is expected are rye, buckwheat, peas, sweet potatoes, broomcorn, apples, and pears. All are minor in their role in overall food production.

States near Washington show a mixed trend but generally upward. A month ago Maryland corn was estimated to yield 16,590,000 bushels; but better weather has increased that to 18,012,000. Virginia a month ago was estimated at 45,068,000 bushels of corn; that has been raised to 49,216,000. West Virginia's corn crop has improved from 12,750,000 bushels on August 1, to 12,900,000 on September 1.

Maryland oats are now expected to yield 1,320,000 bushels; a month ago the prospects were for 1,280,000. Virginia's oats remains the same as a month ago, 5,005,000 bushels, and West Virginia's jumped from 1,809,000 to 1,943,000 bushels.

Hay in all three States also shows an increase of between 5 and 10 per cent—an important crop in such dairying States.

U.S. Unity Reaffirmed

foreign policy. But we shall not be in controversy over the basic fact that America is united against aggression and against the foes of freedom.

"I am happy to say that Governor Dewey and I have discussed these matters many times and one of the reasons I confidently look forward to his election as President of the United States is the fact he deeply believes in this concept and will stoutly sustain it over the years that lie ahead.

The conference, reminiscent of many a crucial bipartisan foreign policy huddle when Governor Dewey was running for President in wartime 1944, was held in the Governor's fifteenth floor suite of the Roosevelt Hotel.

Vandenberg said he flew here from Grand Rapids, Mich., for final talks with Governor Dewey and Dulles before Dulles leaves for his "critical responsibilities" in the General Assembly of the United Nations at Paris.

He said the three canvassed "the foreign policy problems which confront our country, including the situation in Berlin."

Dulles will leave for Europe next Friday night. The U. N. General Assembly meets in Paris Tuesday, September 21.

The conference in Dewey's suite followed tightening of the already tense Berlin affair and a press conference statement by President Truman Friday that this country is standing up for its rights in the present Berlin situation.

Gas Company Files Plan for Stock Offering

By S. Oliver Goodman

Washington Gas Light Co. yesterday filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission for a proposed offering of 102,000 new shares of no-par common stock.

At the same time the company applied to the Public Utilities Commission for authority to issue and sell the new shares "to provide additional capital funds needed to meet the continuing demands for extension of gas service."

Subject to approval of the regulatory agencies, the company proposes that each common stockholder of record September 29, will be entitled to subscribe for the new stock in the ratio of one new share for each five shares held. Subscription price for the new shares has not yet been determined.

Underwriters named in the registration are The First Boston Corp. and Johnston, Lemon & Co., with whom are associated Alex Brown & Sons; Auchincloss, Parker & Redpath; Folger, Nolan Inc.; Goodwyn & Olds; Mackall & Coe; Ferris & Co.; Robinson, Rohrbaugh & Lukens, and Robert C. Jones & Co.

The same group of investment bankers participated in the last issue and sale of 85,000 additional shares of the company's common stock, successfully completed in January of this year.

WHO'S WHO TODAY: Gladding B. Coit, formerly associated with the Reconstruction Finance Corp., has been appointed vice president and director of finance of the Indian Motocycle Co. Coit served seven years as a special assistant to the board of directors of RFC. During World War Two, he was a lieutenant colonel with the War Department and War Contracts Adjustment Board . . . Byron C. Foy has resigned as board chairman and president of Jack & Heintz Precision Industries, Inc. He will be succeeded as president by Kenneth G. Donald . . . William F. Halsey, son of Admiral Halsey, has joined the Liberia Co. as assistant to the president.

STORE SALES: More seasonable weather in the week ended September 4 boosted Washington department store sales 19 per cent higher than in the same 1947 week. The latest period showed a gain of 40 per cent over the previous week this year when the city was in the throes of a heat wave. For the four weeks ended September 4, local store sales were 5 per cent improved over the like period last year. The figures were reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

ODD LOTS: DuPont Co. yesterday advanced prices an average of 7 per cent on nylon yarn and staples . . . Lukens Steel Co. stockholders will vote November 23 on a proposal to increase the indebtedness from nothing to four million dollars. The firm will borrow that amount from Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. at 3⅞ per cent interest, repayable within 10 years . . . New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. was authorized to issue 100 million dollars in short term notes to finance construction and improvement of facilities . . . Peabody Coal Co. will ask common stockholders to increase capitalization by 1,500,000 shares and raise up to 10 million dollars in new financing . . . Southern Pacific Co. asked authority to issue $11,050,000 of equipment trust certificates to help buy new equipment . . . James Lees & Sons Co. will raise prices on carpets an average of about 3 per cent, effective September 20.

DIVIDEND RAISED: Directors of General Electric Co. declared a dividend of 50 cents a share payable October 25 to stock of record September 24. Previous payments were 40 cents at quarterly intervals.

COUNTY OFFERING: A banking syndicate yesterday offered $11,700,000 in Baltimore County "various purpose" bonds. The bonds, due September 1, 1948-88, were priced to yield from 0.90 per cent to 2.75 per cent, according to maturity. The group's winning bid was 100.02 for a combination of 5s, 2¼s, 2½s and 2¾s for a net interest cost to the county over the life of the issue of about 2.5499 per cent.

DEALER WOES: New auto models pose a parts problem for dealers. Take Fords for instance. Already Ford dealers must cut up their shops with separate bins for replacement parts for earlier Fords, including even antique Model A's and T's. The 1949 car is so radically new that scarcely any earlier chassis parts will fit. One dealer moans: "I'll have to increase my inventory by a third, but there'll be very little demand for parts until the 1949 cars get much older." Same situation for Hudson. Says another dealer: "It's like running a three-ring circus."

BRIDGE BONDS: It is now expected that the proposed issue of Chesapeake Bay Bridge revenue bonds will not reach the market until after the middle of October. The offering probably will be for approximately 37 million dollars. Originally it had been planned to sell the bonds in the latter part of September, but a month's delay apparently has been made necessary because certain minor changes in the design of the bridge are now contemplated. Negotiations for the financing have been under way with the Baltimore firm of Alex. Brown & Sons, which expects to head a Nation-wide banking group offering the bonds to the public.

DiMaggio's Grand Slam Homer Beats Bosox, 11-6

This Morning

—With Shirley Povich

I CAN REPORT that dissension has reared its head in the camp of Jimmy Bivins, the Cleveland gladiator who will fight Ezzard Charles on Monday night. Bivins is at odds with his manager, Leo Shane, but it is hardly a matter to give comfort to the enemy and the Bivins camp otherwise is single-minded in the conviction it is housing the winner.

POVICH

The slight rift concerns the punching power of Charles, who knocked Bivins into a four-round knockout 18 months ago, evening up somewhat the seven knockdowns by Bivins in their two previous bouts.

"Charles' right hand is his dynamite," said Shane.

"Un-uh," said Bivins. "He hits better with his left. That left hook is the one that hurts."

"He shoots that right hand the best," persisted Shane.

"No," said Shane.

"Did you ever get hit with his right?" asked Bivins. Manager Shane said "no."

"I been hit by both," said Bivins triumphantly. "Iffen you say 'right,' you're wrong."

ALL OF A SUDDEN Monday's affair has become the biggest fight in Bivins' life. Beyond Charles, the Bivins people see little to thwart a path to Joe Louis' soon-to-be-vacated title. The likes of Jersey Joe Walcott, Joe Baksi and Gus Lesnevich do not perturb Bivins or Shane. "We've already licked Lesnevich, we held Walcott to a split decision when Jimmy was going bad and Baksi always did duck us," said Shane.

To hear 'em tell it, Bivins is leveling for this one. "We've spent $4500 just training for the Charles fight," said Shane. "We used to fight for less than that. Jimmy, here, wouldn't break training even after the two postponements were announced. That's not like him. Suddenly he's getting ambitious, and title-minded. He's down to 180 from 190. That's not like him, either."

For the Charles fight, Shane hired Ray Arcel, the emergency specialist to do a job on Bivins. Arcel says it has been pleasant. "Joe Louis always said Bivins was the second best heavyweight in the world but he said Bivins was a loafer. I can't figure that out. Bivins has been a hound for work. I took his car away from him and that was all right. He never rides when he can walk, and he won't walk when he can run."

BIVINS, rated as the No. 2 heavyweight when he went into the Army, slumped out of contention in 1946 when he lost three decions in a row to Walcott, Lee Q. Murray and Charles. But Shane explains that glibly. "It was Jimmy's bad time. He took three broken ribs out of a fight with Oakland Billy Smith and we were months knowing it."

When Lloyd Marshall stopped Charles back in 1943, it came as no surprise to Shafe, the latter said. "We softened Charles up for Marshall in that beating we give him in January, and Marshall knocks him out in his next fight. A couple of months later Marshall goes in with us and we stop him in 13 rounds."

Bivins' last, lamented fight with Charles, that fetched him a four-round knockout at Cleveland last year, is kissed off by Shane as "one of those things." And Bivins nodded vigorously. "I got careless that's all. I got hit by a right hand that everybody in the arena saw coming except me," said Bivins. "My own fault."

THERE IS HIGH respect for Charles' punching in the Bivins camp, but no great regard for Charles' ability to take it. "I been in there with fellows with tougher chins," says Bivins. "I'm surprised a couple of times when I put Charles down with punches that don't figure to put anybody down, and right now I'm punching sharper than I did."

He expects Charles to come out fighting and throwing punches, but that doesn't disturb Bivins, either. "Lee Savold threw everything at me and so did Lee Murray, but I win those two. Charles will keep me busy for a while, and he steps pretty good, but I step good myself and those stand-up guys don't bother me much."

The 3-to-1 odds favoring Charles don't bother Bivins' spokesmen, Shane and Arcel. "We'll take some of that ourselves," said Shane. "They're thinking about the old Jimmy Bivins, not the 180-pound Bivins that I been working with." said Arcel. Bivins, flipping the pages of a comic book, looked up and said. "Charles ain't no Superman, I don't think," with a wonderful disregard for the double negative.

Tribe Blasts Tigers, 10-1, On 6-Hitter By Bearden

Cleveland, Sept. 10 (AP).—Southpaw Gene Bearden hurled a neat six-hitter for his fourteenth triumph of the season today as the Cleveland Indians rolled to their fourth straight victory by trouncing the Detroit Tigers, 10-1.

Joe Gordon belted his twenty-fifth homer of the year with none aboard in the sixth and Ken Keltner and Manager Lou Boudreau rapped three hits apiece to pace the Tribe's 14-hit attack against loser Dizzy Trout, Al Benton and Hal White.

Bearden also struck out six as he held the Tigers hitless until the fifth inning, when they took advantage of his momentary wildness to score their only run on a walk with the bases loaded.

Gene contributed a double and a single to the Cleveland attack and drove in two runs.

Singles by Thurman Tucker, Gordon, Keltner and Boudreau gave the Indians two runs in the first inning.

The Tribe then bunched three-run clusters in the fourth and fifth frames to seal the verdict.

Browns Drub Chisox, 10-7

Chicago, Sept. 10 (AP).—Three of four Chicago White Sox pitchers issued 15 bases on balls, three within tying the major league record, as the St. Louis Browns defeated the American League cellar dwellers, 10-7, before 5603 persons here tonight.

The victory enabled the sixth-place Browns to sweep the three-game series.

JOLTING JOE DOES IT—Joe DiMaggio was a real hero to his teammates yesterday as he broke up the New York-Boston game with a grand slam homer in the tenth inning, the Yankees winning, 11-6. Warmly greeting DiMaggio as reaches the plate are the three men who scored ahead of him, Tommy Henrich (No. 15), Gus Niarhos (No. 38) and Frank Shea, in front of Henrich. Yogi Berra, Yankee right fielder, is at the right. At left is Bosox Catcher Birdie Tebbets. The victory cut the Bosox's margin over the Yanks to 2½ games

Tremendous Clout Hit In 10th With 2 Men Out

Boston, Sept. 10 (AP).—Joe DiMaggio, one of the "old Yankees," lined a terrific four-run homer into the centerfield bleachers in the tenth inning today, powering the New Yorkers to an 11-6 victory over the American League leading Red Sox before 27,329 fans.

It was DiMaggio's thirty-fourth homer of the season, his second grand slammer and boosted his runs batted in output to 134.

The triumph, only their second here this season in nine games, pulled the Yanks to within 2½ games o fthe Sox, whose winning streak ended at nine.

Tribe Came Back

By winning the Yanks also kept a game ahead of the third-place Cleveland Indians, who smothered the Detroit Tigers, 10-1.

Another of the "old Yankees," Tommy Henrich, also batted—and fielded—in championship form to keep the visitors "in" the 3 hour and 20 minute contest.

Henrich poled a two-run homer in the opening inning and his diving stop of a hard Ted Williams drive ended a Sox rally in the sixth after three runs had scored.

DiMaggio belted his titanic four-bagger off Earl Caldwell, fourth of five Boston pitchers, with two out.

Caldwell set the stage for the Yankee Clipper to do his stuff. He started the inning by walking Gus Niarhos and hitting Frank Shea, the victorious Yankee hurler, on the left knee.

Up Comes DiMaggio

Pinch-hitter Charlie Keller went out swinging and Henrich drew a walk to fill the bases. Hank Bauer struck out and up came DiMaggio.

The count ran to 2 and 2, one of the strikes was a soaring line drive which just curved foul before leaving the playing field. Then came the game-winning smash.

Shea, who had entered the game in the sixth when the Sox rallied to drive out Starter Vic Raschi, retired the Bostonians in order in the last of the tenth.

He fanned Ted Williams for the last out of the game and walked off the field grinning broadly. It was the chubby right-hander's ninth victory against 10 defeats.

After the Yankees went in front on Henrich's two-run homer, his twenty-second four-bagger of the season, the Sox scored once in the first and again in the third to eve nthe score. Errors figured in both Boston runs.

Yanks Score in 5th

The Yankees added two more runs in the fifth on three singles and a long fly. After Niarhos opened the sixth with a double and scored on Raschi's single, Dave Ferriss replaced starter Jack Kramer on the mound for Boston.

Raschi, who never has beaten the Red Sox, was belted for four singles and gave up a base on balls for three Sox runs in the sixth.

Shea came in with Red Sox on first and third and none out. Dom DiMaggio bounced sharply back to the Naugatuck (Conn.) hurler. Shea trapped Billy Hitchcock off third and chased the Boston infielder until he tagged him out on the base line. He got Johnny Pesky on a centerfield fly and then Henrich made his great stop at the expense of Williams.

Wooten Signs— As Pitcher For '49 Nats

Earl Wooten, the Nats' .262 hitting outfielder, yesterday signed a contract for 1949—as a pitcher.

Wooten, a lefthander, has been a classy outfielder, with a powerful arm. But he has been pretty sad around the plate.

Although he's never pitched in the majors, Earl started his baseball life as a pitcher, with Chattanooga in 1944. He was working for a seventh-place club, but when he won only five games while losing 15 he decided to be an outfielder.

Clark Griffith said Wooten would be used as a pitcher from time to time the rest of this year.

"He has a strong arm and," said Mr. Griffith. "He says he's going to be a good pitcher, and, by golly, he might be right."

Colts Lose To Chicago By 21 to 14

Chicago, Sept. 10 (AP).—The Chicago Rockets gained their first All-America Conference victory of the season when they upset the favored Baltimore Colts, 21-14, before a crowd of 14,642 tonight at Soldier Field.

Sam Vacanti smashed across from the 1-yard line for the touchdown which broke a 14-14 tie, after 11:47 of the fourth quarter.

The Rockets had a 14-0 margin at the half, outplaying the Colts on the ground and in the air to total seven first downs, all from scrimmage, while Baltimore totaled four of which three were acquired by penalties.

After 10 minutes of the opening quarter, Vacanti climaxed an 86-yard Rocket march by tossing a 20-yard pass to end Lafayette King who took the ball on the 11 and went across. Steve Juzwik place-kicked the extra point.

The next Chicago score came after 6:25 of the second period when Prokop broke through left tackle and galloped 21 yards. Juzwik again converted.

Tittle Scores One

The Colts came back late in the third quarter to drive 77 yards on a pair of long runs by Bus Mertes and a pass, Y. A. Tittle to Mertes, which downed the ball on the Rockets' 5. After two smashes at the line, Tittle sneaked over from the 1. Rex Grossman came in and kicked the extra point.

After 4:25 of the final period Billy Hillenbrand galloped 28 yards to the Rockets' 47, from where a pass, Tittle to Lamar Davis, covered the remaining distance. Grossman again added the conversion.

After the next kickoff Chicago drove to the Colts' 5, a 50-yard sprint around right end by Dewey Proctor furnishing most of the yardage. But Eddie Prokop's fumble was recovered by Spiro Dellerba on the 3, and Baltimore punted to their 30.

Proctor and Elroy Hirsch took the ball to the Colts' 5. Proctor and Prokop picked up two yards each, to set the stage for Vacanti's smash across the goal. Juzwik booted through the uprights for the final conversion.

Olympic and National Swim Stars Compete Here Today

Olympic stars and nationally known swimmers will compete today, tonight and tomorrow night at the Indian Spring Country Club in the annual swimming meet of the President's Cup Regatta. Competition will begin at 2 p. m. today.

From Australia are John Davies and Bruce Bourke, residents of Sydney, who finished among the leaders in the breast stroke and the free style events at the Olympics in London.

From New York are Marie Corridon, one of two Eastern feminine stars who represented this country in the London competition.

With diving included for the first time, Chairman Joe Bertolini has a star-studded field. Included among the 12 are Joe Marino of the Pasadena (California) A. C., and Johnny Simpson of Ohio State, who finished third and fourth in their respective classes of the Nationals at Akron, Ohio, last weekend.

In view of his championship background, Davies, the Australian, will be a favorite in the 200-meter breast stroke. At Akron he finished second to the Olympic champion, Joe Verdeur. Bourke will compete in the 100-yard free-style and backstroke. Boruck was barely beaten out by Olympic backstroke Champion Allan Stack at Akron.

The first of the swimming heats will go on promptly at 2 p. m. today with a field of approximately 180 entered. Action will be resumed at 7:30 tonight, with all finals tomorrow (Sunday) at 7:30 p. m.

Margery Clifford, 16-year-old daughter of President Truman's special counsel, Clark Clifford, will preside as queen of the President's Cup Regatta and will be on hand for the swimming competition tonight.

She also will attend tomorrow afternoon when the canoeing events are run on the Potomac River course between Memorial and Highway bridges, beginning at 1 p. m.

Four swimming events are carded for the women with the 150-yard individual medley drawing the most outstanding field. Miss Corridon will be entered against such well-known mermaids as Doris Kuss, New Jersey medley champion; Bettie Roland, D. C. outdoor champion from Takoma, and Wilhelmena Orme of Ambassador.

An added feature of the regatta swim Sunday will be the run-off for the men's D. C. AAU team title. Takoma and Ambassador squads currently are tied with 46 points each with only the 300-yard medley relay to be held.

Nats Make It 10 Losses In Row, 9-6, 3-0

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

The Nats finally got over the hump last night.

They lost a double-header to the Athletics to extend their losing streak to 10 straight, their longest of the season.

On three other occasions this season they had easily managed to lose nine in a row, but each time they messed up the string with a trifling little victory.

Last night, however, they made it, dropping the opener of the twi-night program, 10-6, for reverse No. 9. Setback No. 10 was a 3-0 job.

Griff Gets $5947 Bill on Police Help

LICENSE DEPARTMENT inspectors yesterday delivered bills for police and fire protection at public places totaling almost $7000, first of a series of such charges to be levied as the result of a new law.

Hardest hit was Griffith Stadium, 7th sts and Florida ave. nw., ball park, which was presented with an invoice for $5947, covering 5041 man hours of District police protection during the months of July, August and September at the rate of $1.18 an hour.

Clark Griffith, owner, said he had no immediate comment on the levy, which represented a major boost from the previous nominal fee of $5 a year for such services.

Turner's Arena was given a $350 bill for the three-month period, but Uline's Arena, which has been inactive during the summer months, was passed.

BILLS FOR the services of District firemen at the rate of 90 cents an hour were given to the owners of three theaters for the month of July. National was charged $137, the Capitol, $240, and the Howard, $70.

Firemen were withdrawn from the theaters toward the end of the month by the order of Fire Chief Clement Murphy. The chief said yesterday that the details were stopped after he revoked a standing regulation requiring a uniformed fireman on duty backstage during all live stage acts.

The theaters are still required to continue employing a private fireman for the same purpose, Chief Murphy said.

He said the policy of employing District firemen back stage went back to the Iroquois Hotel disaster in Chicago in the early nineteen hundred, but that gradually most cities had dropped the policy. He declared there was "no more point in keeping a fireman there than in requiring one at all church services or movie programs" and that the uniformed men were needed for more essential duties.

The bills were prepared by License Superintendent Chatham T. Nottingham as the result of a bill passed at the last session of Congress requiring operators of public amusement places to reimburse the District government for the services of uniformed fire and policemen.

Harry Badly Hurt, Could Ruin Career

By Bill Burnett
Post Reporter

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 10.—While some 35,000 of his home town fans celebrate "Harry Gilmer Day," the Washington Redskins tomorrow take on the Green Bay Packers in their third preseason game at Legion Field here.

Everybody in Birmingham is in the mood for the city's first real professional game, bringing back the Redskins' former Alabama All-America in his first pro appearance.

Everybody, that is, except the Packers.

Coach Curley Lambeau of the Wisconsin outfit today issued a solemn warning that Gilmer, his leg still damaged so badly he will be used only briefly, would be treated as any other player by his team.

He said it was foolish to use Gilmer at all, when his whole career might be ruined, and warned the Redskins that their new passing star might be "seriously hurt or made to look ridiculous" before his home town admirers.

The Redskins, however, refused to change their plans for at least a token appearance for Gilmer, saying he owed that to fans despite his injury.

It will be Washington's final road game before returning home Monday, and the prospects of a victory appear dim. So far the Skins have whipped Los Angeles and bowed rather humbly to the Chicago Cardinals.

They'll be facing one of the biggest and fastest teams in pro football. The Packers' defensive line may average around 255 pounds, and Packer backs can leave anybody behind.

Perry Moss, brilliant quarterback from Illinois, and Wisconsin's Earl Girard may not be able to play but there still are such veterans as Jack Jacobs, Bruce Smith, Tony Canadeo and Ted Fritz to contend with. Fullback Walt Schlinkman is definitely out, but just as definitely in is Ralph Earhart, a 165-pounder from Texas Tech who earlier beat the New York Giants with a 46-yard touchdown run.

In addition to their 7-0 exhibition margin over the Giants, the Packers turned back Pittsburgh's Steelers, 9-7, in their only other outing to date. They thus rate as an excellent defensive team and probably a one-touchdown favorite over the Skins.

Two players were purchased by Washington today but they won't join the club until it returns to D. C. They are End Hal Crisler and Guard Earl Cook, both from the Boston Yankees. Two other newcomers may get their first taste of action tomorrow—fullback Art "Choo-Choo" Macioszczyk a third year man from the Philadelphia Eagles, and Fullback Carl Russ, a 200-pounder out of Rice Institute.

They're playing up Gilmer in the Birmingham newspapers, but Washington's victory hopes still center around the same veteran.

As Sammy Baugh goes, so will go the Redskins.

He'll be needing, however, the kind of forward wall support he received against the Rams and considerably better pass defense than the Skins could muster against the Cards.

The running game still hinges on Bob Nussbaumer, former Michigan ace, with such backs as Eddie Saenz, Dick Todd and Howie Livingston on the hospital list. Dan Sandifer, rookie from LSU, may also come in for his share of action.

Probable starting line-ups:

Washington		Green Bay
Tereshinski	L. E.	Cook
Adams	L. T.	Ray

Two Horse Shows Over Weekend

The annual Montgomery County Horse show, which starts today on Lex Barnsley's farm in Olney, Md., and the Mount Calvary Horse and pony show, slated for tomorrow at J. B. Bland's farm in Suitland, Md., should provide an interesting weekend for the local horsey set.

Highlighting the afternoon program of the Montgomery event, regular hunter and jumper classes will be held as well as programs for five-gaited and harness horses.

The features at the Mount Calvary show include the $100 jumper stake, $100 hunter stake and the working hunter cvlass for possession of the Mount Calvary Memorial Trophy.

Trenton Wins Legion Title

Indianapolis, Sept. 10 (AP).—Trenton, N. J., won the American Legion national junior baseball championship tonight, defeating Jacksonville, Fla., 3 to 1. It was Trenton's third straight victory in the "junior world series" at Victory Field.

Gallorette Heads Field in $68,800 Beldame Handicap Today

They Play Today

National Net Matches Are Rained Out

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP).—A steady rain which looked like it might let up in about a week washed out the scheduled start of the national tennis championships today.

Even before the first ball could be swatted, officials took one look at the brimming courts and tossed in the towel. Only a few players had reached the clubhouse when the postponement was announced.

If possible, today's program will be played tomorrow, and an effort will be made later on to catch up on the lost day. Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, the defending women's champion, is scheduled to play the opening match in the stadium against Charlotte Decker of Washington, D. C.

Rain Puts Off Eagle Game

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (AP).—Steady rain today caused postponement of tonight's exhibition game between the Chicago Cardinals and the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, Inc., sponsoring the eleventh annual exhibition at Municipal Stadium, rescheduled the clash for tomorrow night.

Jet Rained Out, Will Play Today

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—Washington, D. C.'s Jet Motor Co.'s game with the loser of the Spring Grove-Union contest in the All-American Amateur Baseball League was washed out today and will be played tomorrow.

Gonzaga, Mt. Vernon Game Rained Out

Gonzaga High School's opening football game at Mount Vernon Stadium, scheduled for last night at 8:00 has been postponed until tonight at 8:15.

Rain also forced postponement of the Washington Lee-Fort Hill football game, originally scheduled for yesterday at Cumberland, Md. It will be played today.

Alex Jany Breaks Swimming Record

Casablanca, Sept. 10 (AP).—Alex Jany, French swimming champion, broke the 300-yard world record here today, the French News Agency reported. He swam the distance in 3:03.

The previous world record had been established in April, 1935, in Chicago by J. Medica in 3:04.4.

Honeymoon, Snow Goose Won't Run

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—Just about every leading filly or mare in training, with two notable exceptions, will contest the $68,800 Beldame Handicap tomorrow as the 1948 Acqueduct season comes to a close.

Absent from the mile and one-eighth event will be Honeymoon and Snow Goose, but the bulky 15-horse field glitters with plenty of other stars from the ranks of the "weaker sex."

Top-weighted under 124 pounds is Mrs. Marie A. Moore's Gallorette, who is expected to be the favorite.

Gallorette took one division of the Beldame, which was split in two sections in 1946, and was second to Snow Goose last year when the large number of entries again caused the race to be run in two divisions.

This will be the first race for the 6-year-old Maryland-bred, the world's greatest money-winning race mare, in the silks of her new owner. She was sold by W. L. Brann last week for an unannounced sum, reported between $120,000 and $125,000.

But there will be adequate competition, especially from Harry La Montagne's Conniver, with second high impost of 121 pounds.

Lester Manor Stable's Compliance, victor in the Monmouth Oaks and then the Alabama stakes at Saratoga August 25, is another strong challenger. Alablue will go as an entry with Miss Grillo in the Beldame and must be rated a contender. In all, 15 will go to the post.

Quantico Holds 'World Series'

The All-Navy baseball "World Series" will be held September 15-20 at the baseball stadium of the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., the Defense Department announced today.

The competing teams represent the United States Naval Submarine Base, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii and the Marine Corps School at Quantico.

The Quantco nine won the preseries competition among the teams of the Atlantic Fleet and continental stations in Eastern and Midwest naval districts. The Pearl Harbor nine was victorious in preliminary competition between teams of the Pacific Fleet and shore stations.

So Greene Says

NBA Can't Name New Champ Until Louis Quits Officially

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP).—President Abe Greene of the National Boxing Association said today no new heavyweight champion will be declared until Joe Louis retires officially.

That puts the damper on any hopes of matching the winners of the Jimmy Bivins-Ezzard Charles and Jersey Joe Walcott-Gus Lesnevich fights and calling it a title contest.

Bivins and Charles tangle in Washington Monday, and Walcott is slated to meet Lesnevich in Jersey City, September 21.

Greene, however, did leave the door open. He said that the heavyweight muddle probably would be the main topic on the agenda when the NBA convenes for its annual meeting for three days starting Monday in Philadelphia.

"Obviously, the winners of the two fights would be considered the outstanding fighters in the heavyweight division," Greene said, "but that's not news. Who else is there?"

Greene said that Louis would be the guest at the NBA's dinner Tuesday night, and that he expected some definite word to be forthcoming from the champion at the time.

"We hope to have the whole thing straightened out by then," Greene commented. "However, until we hear from Louis one way or the other we certainly cannot and will not declare another man the heavyweight champion."

Concerning the convention, he said that close to 100 delegates from every NBA State in the country plus Cuba and Hawaii will be present for the meeting. The only States which will not be represented officially are New York and Massachusetts.

Court Grants $500 Judgment Against Sugar Ray

Cleveland, Sept. 10 (AP).—A $500 default jjudgment against Ray (Sugar) Robinson of New York, world welterweight boxing champion, was granted today by Municipal Judge Joseph H. Silbert.

Attorney Augustus G. Parker, Ward 11 councilman, asked the judgment for Robinson's alleged failure to pay him fees for an unsuccessful attempt to obtain a Common Pleas Court injunction restraining radio broadcast of the Robinson-Artie Levine fight here June 24, 1947. Robinson objected to the radiocast on grounds that he failed to receive a sufficient portion of the proceeds.

Judge Silbert said that unless Robinson files a motion for a new trial within 10 days, he would grant Parker a lien on a 24-suite, $90,000 apartment owned by the boxer here.

Board Faces Fight Over D. C. School Transfers

Member Declares Several Changes Violated Rules, Seeks Revocation

By Elsie Carper
Post Reporter

School Board Member Adelbert W. Lee said yesterday he will challenge the validity of several school transfers made during the summer at Wednesday's meeting of the board.

He referred to the moving of Powell Junior High School students into Central High School and of Bell Vocational High School students into the vacated Powell building.

Lee also said he will oppose the transfer last Wednesday of the Veterans High School Center from Central to McKinley High School. This change was made to provide space for the junior high students in the Central building.

Lee said the various moves, although approved by a majority of board members through a poll, are in violation of board rules.

Lee indicated the stand he will take Wednesday at yesterday's meeting of the board's committee on buildings and grounds.

The committee approved the transfer of the veterans' center, the renaming of Central High School to the Central Junior-Senior High School, and the redesignation of the Powell building as the Alexander Graham Bell Vocational High School. The committee also said the present Bell building should be called the Alexander Graham Bell Vocational High School Annex. The three measures will be brought before the full board at Wednesday's meeting.

Meanwhile, Schools Superintendent Hobart M. Corning has ordered that on Monday, opening day of school, Powell students will report to Central, 13th and Clifton sts. nw.; Bell students will report to Powell, Hiatt pl. and Lamont st. nw., and the veterans to McKinley, 2d and T sts. ne.

Open House Planned By Barcroft P-TA

The Barcroft Parent-Teacher Association will meet at the school at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Dr. Glenn Stahl, member of the Arlington School Board, will discuss "Our Increasing School Needs," and Mrs. Evelyn Lynn, school principal, will introduce the staff of teachers. An open house, beginning at 7:30, will precede the meeting.

Suits Stolen

Five Women Are Bound on Theft Charge

The owner of a U st. dress shop and four women were held in $1000 bond each for the grand jury yesterday in connection with thefts from fashionable Connecticut ave. apparel shops.

Police said they recovered, in the home of the U st. storekeeper, two ladies' suits reported stolen Thursday afternoon from Herman Becker, Inc., 1719 Connecticut ave. nw., and five suits stolen a couple of hours earlier from the Kenmar Shop, 1014 Connecticut ave. nw., owned by Edward A. and Walter S. Chain.

The defendants waived hearings, charging through attorneys their arrests were a frame-up.

The women are Mrs. Mary Jones Payne, 37, of 1228 U st. nw., who runs the New York Dress Mart, 1501 U st. nw.; Ellen Jefferson, 24, of 418 20th st. nw.; Ethel Scott, 21, of 1127 23d st. nw.; Ethel McDonald, 37, and Dorothy Jenkins, 22, both of New York City.

Arrested in Car

The women were arrested about 6 p. m. Thursday in Mrs. Payne's automobile in front of the Thirteenth Precinct Station in the 900 block of U st. nw. The license number of the car had been broadcast on a police lookout shortly before as that of a car in which some women escaped after stealing three ladies' suits from the Becker Dress Shop. One of the suits had been recovered when it was dropped in flight.

Pvts. L. B. Raney and D. W. Gould in a police scout car recognized the number and halted the car. John L. Tibbett, who was driving it, was also charged with grand larceny, asserting he was not in the car when it was allegedly used in the thefts, he was released by Commissioner Lawrence in custody of his attorney, Curtis Mitchell, for a further hearing at 10 a. m. Tuesday, when he said he would present witnesses to prove he knew nothing of the thefts.

Chased by Saleslady

Detective Sergt. Keith Gosin and Third Precinct Detective Walter Grove said they went to Mrs. Payne's home and found two ladies' suits, retailing at around $160, that had been reported stolen from Becker's store about 4:30 p. m. Thursday, and five other suits from the Kenmar Shop about 2:30 p. m.

A Becker saleslady, Mrs. Vicky Michael, 1735 19th st. nw., told Commissioner Lawrence she was fitting a dress on a customer in rear of the store when she saw in a mirror the reflection of one of the defendants taking a suit off a rack and walking out. She said two other defendants blocked her as she pursued the woman, who ran to a car parked around the corner on S st. and got away in it, dropping a suit as she fled.

An eyewitness gave police the license number.

Underpass Substitute Advocated

Streetcar Lines' Removal Proposed For Busy Pa. Ave. Intersection

Elimination of streetcar lines and installation of safety islands to channelize auto traffic were advocated yesterday in a low-cost program for reducing congestion at the intersection of Constitution and Pennsylvania aves. nw.

The proposals were made at a public hearing held by the District Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission in the District Building as a substitute for a previously recommended $4,500,000 underpass at the crossing.

In suggesting curtailment of streetcar service on Pennsylvania ave. from Peace Monument at the foot of Capitol Hill to 7th st. nw., E. D. Merrill, Capital Transit Co. president, recommended rerouting of some present lines and substitution of bus service for another line.

Wants Public Funds Used

Merrill declared that changes in streetcar tracks required as a result of increased auto traffic should be paid for by public funds, rather than by CTC. He cited figures showing a steady, substantial rise in auto registrations here from 1920 to the present, and a decline of one-third in streetcar trips through the intersection.

"It appears, therefore, that the transit patrons should not be saddled with the cost of track changes . . . either through increased operating expenses or increased investment requiring a larger number of dollars of income to provide return on the value of the property," he said.

The CTC official offered two plans for changing streetcar service. The first would eliminate lines between 6th st. and Peace Cross by installing a double track on 6th st. connecting Pennsylvania ave. vehicles with the present Route 40 streetcar tracks at 5th and D sts. nw.

Complete Elimination

The second proposal would eliminate the lines entirely between 7th st. and Peace Cross. Both plans would require rerouting Route 54 cars along the present No. 30 route over Independence ave. and 7th st. and substituting rush-hour bus service between Potomac Park and Union Station via Constitution ave. for the present Cabin John-Union Station streetcar line.

It would also involve the construction of a by-pass track on 7th between Constitution and Pennsylvania aves. to handle the additional cars turning or crossing at the intersection of 7th st. and Pennsylvania ave.

The second plan would contemplate the elimination of an existing turnaround at 6th and C sts. and therefore would require new facilities for reversing cars as well as for holding cars awaiting rush hours, Merrill said.

He offered two suggestions. One was for a terminal loop on 8th st. between D and E sts. and the other for a bypass track on 11th st. between E and F sts. nw. to be used for the same purpose.

Proposes Strips, Islands

Highway Director J. N. Robertson offered a plan in conjunction with the streetcar line curtailment providing for the erection of center strips and safety islands to force channelization of traffic feeding in from John Marshall pl., 4th st., Independence and Pennsylvania aves.

Robertson said the construction was the joint suggestion of his department and the Department of Vehicles and Traffic and would cost about $70,000. The building plus the streetcar reduction would increase the traffic flow along Constitution ave. across the intersection by almost 100 per cent, he said.

Mark Lansburgh of the Lansburgh & Bro. department store, Battalion Chief N. E. Bowen and Hyman Goldstein, attorney for two 8th st. firms, testified in opposition to the 8th st. turnaround scheme, protesting that it would hinder traffic and provide hazards for vehicles.

The board took the matter under advisement.

Operator Pinned More Than 2 Hours in Cab When 15-Ton Shovel Topples Over Into Ditch

Navy Crane Is Called To Wheaton Project To Rescue Workman

A mechanical shovel operator was trapped for more than two hours yesterday when his 15-ton shovel toppled into a ditch at the Glenmont Forest subdivision on Georgia ave., just north of Wheaton, Md.

The operator, Albert Malcolm, 44, of Rosemont, Md., which is near Baltimore, apparently escaped serious injury. He was admitted to Suburban Hospital, Bethesda, for observation and X-rays.

Because of heavy rain, work on a project at the subdivision had been halted at about 12:45 p. m. Malcolm's shovel was pointed down an incline.

When Malcolm started to move the shovel back from the ditch he had just excavated, the treads slipped in the mud and the shovel toppled on its side into the ditch.

Malcolm's legs were pinned inside the cab and the opening into the cab was almost completely blocked off. Dr. Samuel Allen, Kensington physician, administered morphine to the trapped man.

Workmen at the excavation site were joined by the Silver Spring and Kensington rescue squads.

A first attempt to cut a larger opening with acetylene torches failed. Finally, a 25-ton crane was obtained from the Naval Ordnance Laboratory at White Oaks, Md.

In pouring rain and a sea of mud, the huge crane was maneuvered into position. It raised the foundered mechanical shovel several inches, just enough to take the pressure off Malcolm's legs.

The rescue workers then pried a larger opening and Malcolm climbed to freedom assisted by the men outside. He was placed on a litter and rushed to the hospital.

Elmer Markins, 33, of Baltimore, foreman on the construction job, said that when the shovel fell, he saw Malcolm start to jump from the cab, then hesitate.

"If he had jumped, he would have been crushed to death under the shovel," said Markins.

Report Made On Potomac Pollution Tests

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 10 (AP).—An interstate group set up to fight pollution in the Potomac River today got its first report on where, how much and why the stream is impure.

the Interstate Commission on the Edward R. Cotton, director of Potomac River basin, presented the results of a year-long survey. The group is made up of representatives from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

A cooperative plan for Maryland and West Virginia on the upper reaches of the river, where there are many industries, will be presented to the conference Saturday.

Officers of the commission were reelected this morning. They are Raymond V. Long, director of the Virginia State Planning Board, chairman; Harold A. Kemp, sanitary engineer for Washington, vice chairman; Oliver Gash, assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, general counsel, and Dr. David I. Seckinger, assistant health officer of the District of Columbia, treasurer.

The Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission sandwiched a meeting between sessions of the interstate commission.

It decided to ask the State for $13,653 in additional funds for the current fiscal year to hire another chemist and meet other expenses.

2 Held for Grand Jury On Assault Charges

Two Washington men charged with assault with intent to rape in Prince Georges County yesterday were ordered held for the grand jury by Trial Magistrate Arthur P. Owens in Marlboro Police Court.

The pair, Paul Courtney Fugitt, 31, of 1105 6th st. nw., and Frank F. Cowens, 41, of 3378 Alder pl. ne., were arrested in Washington after a 43-year-old Washington mother of four children said she had been beaten and left on the side of a road near Oxon Hill by the two men early Sunday.

Death of Mother Raises Polio Toll In Area to Three

Mrs. Joyce Ayers Of Falls Church Stricken Monday By Bulbar Type

Greater Washington's polio fatality toll rose to three yesterday with the death of Mrs. Joyce Ayers, 25-year-old mother of two, who lived just outside Falls Church, Va.

Mrs. Ayers first complained of pain on Monday night after returning from a Labor Day weekend visit with relatives at Appomattox. On Tuesday a doctor was summoned and by Wednesday she was diagnosed as a bulbar polio patient.

Mrs. Ayers

She was admitted to Gallinger Hospital at 1 p. m. Wednesday and on Thursday morning was placed in a respirator after she experienced difficulty in breathing and swallowing. Dr. Alvin Sweeney, superintendent of Gallinger, said. She died at 4 a. m. yesterday.

Four polio deaths were recorded in Greater Washington last year, but none had occurred by this date last year. The two previous fatalities this year were an 8-year-old boy and a 20-year-old youth from the District.

Mrs. Ayers is survived by her husband, Emmett G. Ayers, a laundry truck driver, and two children, Macon, 5, and Sandra Lee, 16 months.

The family resided in the District before moving to 1508 Tyler ave. in the Tyler Park subdivision just west of Falls Church 18 months ago. During the war, Mrs. Ayers, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Warren, 3915 Albemarle st. nw., worked as a secretary for UNRRA.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Monday from Hysong's funeral Home, with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

School Hazard

More Police Sought for Falls Church

Falls Church lacks sufficient policemen to "adequately cover" the city's six major intersections during school hours, Police Chief E. H. Howe warned yesterday.

To remedy this "safety hazard," Howe said he would ask the Falls Church City Council for at least two more policemen when it meets Monday.

Town Manager Roy F. Dunn, backing Howe's request, said he would ask the council for an increased police department appropriation in the annual budget he will present during Monday's meeting.

Chief Howe said Falls Church has only 12 policemen for an 18-hour day. They must cover the six major intersections three times during the school period from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. to guide youngsters through traffic. To meet the heavy schedule, he said, the policemen now are working six days a week, nine hours a day.

And the situation, he added, may get worse. St. James' Parochial School on W. Broad st. expects to open classes in its newly built building about September 20, adding to the need for police protection. And the crowded Madison Elementary School may go on a double shift, putting children on the streets at noon as well as at other times, also adding to police duties.

Guide Issued For Fledgling D. C. Lawyers

It lists names and office locations of judges of all the courts in the District. It supplies also names of court clerks, assistant district attorneys and heads of many District Government agencies.

The handbook also instructs newcomers to the bar in the various court procedures prevailing here, and one special chapter is devoted to trial techniques.

The manual was conceived by the Junior Bar Section whose 325 members are 36 or younger. The Bar Association paid the publishing costs and any profits from the book will go to the association.

About 2500 copies of the manual are in the mails now, being distributed to all members of the association, local judges and court officials and deans of local law schools.

The book was edited by Bernard H. White, who was chairman of the Practice Manual Committee, and Thomas M. Raysor, chairman of the Junior Bar Section in 1947 and 1948 and now a member of the board of directors of the Bar Association.

Its sponsors say this is the first time such a handbook has been prepared in the District and perhaps the first time anywhere in the country with the express purpose of giving practical help to the young lawyer just starting practice.

Numbers Raids Hold Two to Grand Jury

Allegedly trapped with marked money and a numbers writer's book in one of a series of vice squad raids, Edward F. Harrigan, 31, of 504 7th st. sw., was held in $1000 bond yesterday for the grand jury.

Harrigan was arrested Monday in a poolroom at 613 7th st. sw., after undercover men had placed bets with him on the number 962 for six days, they said.

Also charged before Municipal Court Judge Aubrey B. Fennell with operating a lottery, Mrs. Louise C. Newyhar, 43, of 901 New York ave. nw., was held in the same bond for the grand jury. Raiders said she had numbers slips and $135 in marked money when they seized her, her husband, Bernard, and Hyman Sussman, 43, of 3215 Chesapeake st. nw., at 804 K st. nw. Newyhar and Sussman were freed for lack of evidence.

Mrs. Rita Palmer, 32, of 1431 58th ave. ne., the first woman ever charged with collecting bets from numbers writers here, received a continuance to September 23 under $1500 bond by United States Commissioner Cyril S. Lawrence.

Mrs. Palmer was arrested in a car near Uline Arena, police said, with a sackful of numbers and $189.

Commissioner Lawrence similarly continued the case of Jerome G. Donaldson, 39, of 133 Maryland ave. ne., in the same bond, charged with operating a lottery and possessing numbers slips.

Pictures May Show Polio Virus in Nerve

Toronto, Sept. 10 (AP).—Pictures showing tiny dots that may be polio virus moving inside a nerve were disclosed today by two research scientists.

If these dots actually are the virus, the pictures are an exciting discovery. A new way possibly will be opened to learn how infantile paralysis virus gets into the body, and how it moves along nerve pathways to do damage.

The photographs were taken by Dr. E. DeRobertis and Dr. Francis O. Schmitt of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with a powerful electron microscope. They were shown, with a report of the work, to the electron Microscope Society of America.

At intervals, the MIT scientists took pictures of the sciatic nerve of a monkey which had been infected with polio virus. Tiny, oval dots could be seen in the tubule of the nerve, an inner portion of the nerve which may be hollow.

One great handicap in polio research is that the polio virus is so much tinier than most disease organisms. With the electron microscope, which can magnify things 50,000 to 100,000 times, scientists have got pictures of particles which they suspect are the polio virus.

Vanished Employe And $400 Sought

A man hired yesterday as a ticket taker at the Endy Brothers carnival shows, Oklahoma ave. and Benning rd. ne., disappeared last night. Carnival officials told police about 400 one-dollar bills also disappeared.

Police broadcast a lookout for a man giving his name as Robert J. Burgess, Negro, 25, 5-feet 6-inches, 150 pounds, with three upper front teeth missing.

Montgomery Pupils' Parents Advised to Get True Facts

Montgomery County parents were admonished to get facts before criticizing schools last night at a public forum which also drew heated exchanges about allegedly subversive textbooks.

Principal defendant of the schools at the forum, attended by 500 parents and teachers at Leland Junior High School in Chevy Chase, was Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Maryland state Superintendent of Schools.

The flareup came when Franklin T. Miles, Chevy Chase attorney who repeatedly has charged Montgomery textbooks contain un-American propaganda, asked Pullen what State school officials intended to do about it.

Pullen, who had interpreted a remark made by Miles as reflecting on school officials, demanded to know if his critic was accusing him and other officials "of subversive thinking," to which Miles replied:

"Their negligence in conducting school affairs constitutes such action."

Pullen, to whom earlier charges by Miles on the same matter have been referred by Maryland's Governor Lane for investigation after Miles had written the Governor, declared sternly:

"These are very serious charges, indeed, and I feel this is no place to discuss them. You will be required to substantiate these charges under oath."

The flare-up over subversive textbooks came after the meeting had been opened for discussion.

Dr. Pullen gave figures to show the county's schedule of teachers' salaries is the highest in the State, and that Maryland ranks among the top two or three States in the United States in teachers' salaries. He said tests given recently to seventh grade pupils in Montgomery showed their knowledge of arithmetic and reading was well above the national average for that grade.

Assistant County School Superintendent E. M. Douglass said the county in recent years had improved its curriculum.

County Supervisor Irving G. McNayr declared teachers' salaries should be based not so much on what teachers elsewhere are paid. He said they should be comparable to salaries paid other professional groups in the county with comparable education, training and experience in their professions. He asserted only nurses and public health workers, among such groups, are paid less than teachers there.

Area News In Brief

'Pants Burglar' Believed Captured

Detectives last night believed they may have arrested the notorious "pants burglar" in the person of a suspect who leaped out a second-story window of the Second Precinct Station when he was about to be questioned.

The prisoner, Ernest T. Barnes, 24, of 649 N st. nw., was held in $3000 bond by Municipal Court Judge Aubrey B. Fennell yesterday, charged with breaking into the apartment of Nelson Utley, 1510 9th st. nw., early Thursday and stealing a pair of pants. Nelson pursued the thief but lost him. Barnes was arrested later on Utley's description.

As detectives at the 5th st. and New York ave. nw. station were about to question him, Barnes leaped through an open window, bounced off an awning and ran. He was recaptured after a brief sprint by pursuing patrolmen and detectives.

Police said Barnes has served previous terms for robbery and housebreaking, and was last released from the District Workhouse at Occoquan last November. They planned to have several men whose trousers have been stolen from their bedrooms in recent weeks try to identify Barnes or goods found in his possession.

Faces Lottery Charges

Vice squad detectives arrested Helen Hamilton, 36, of 634 N st. nw., at noon yesterday in a restaurant in the 1200 block of 7th st. nw., and charged her with operating a lottery and possession of lottery slips.

Police said marked money given her by undercover men was found on her person. The woman was released in $1500 bond and will be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Cyril Lawrence.

Foils Suicide Attempt

An alert cabdriver foiled an attempt at suicide yesterday on the Calvert st. bridge.

The driver, Jesse J. Ramsey, 6106 9th st. nw., picked up a man at about 8 a. m. at Georgia and Colorado aves. nw. The passenger asked to be driven to the bridge and mumbled en route that he was going to "end it all."

When the man got out of the cab in the middle of the bridge, Ramsey grabbed him and called upon a Capital Transit Co. inspector for assistance. The inspector called police.

Police identified the man as Jack Rinehart, 64, of 5740 Colorado ave. nw., and said he told them he had been suffering from illness for some time. Rinehart was taken to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation.

Snake-Spider Battle

The tiny, 6-inch snake caught in a spider's web in an Arlington home for the past eight days was still alive yesterday, as animal welfare officials announced they could do nothing to free it.

The reptile is caught in the basement of Army Sergt. Robert H. Anderson's home at 4200 S. 4th st. while the spider sits nearby and waits. Sergeant Anderson has declined pleas to free the snake.

Mrs. Paul M. Twyne, president of the Arlington County Animal Welfare League, said yesterday the league has no legal right to interfere, since the snake apparently got into the fix by itself.

Negroes Plan New Virginia Court Actions

Negro attorneys in Richmond yesterday prepared to turn to the courts in their struggle against Virginia's segregated school system.

Lawyers who led Thursday's unsuccessful attempts to enroll a group of Negro students in white schools in King George and Gloucester counties said they would:

1. File a motion early next week in the Federal District Court asking that school officials in the two counties be held in contempt of a court directive last July to provide equal school facilities for Negroes.

2. File a new discrimination suit against King George County authorities demanding equal pay for white and Negro teachers there.

At the same time the Virginia Commisison on State and Local Revenues and Expenditures met to consider plans aimed at getting a clearer picture on the State's school needs.

On the agenda as the group met behind closed doors in the Capitol Building at Richmond was the presentation of a questionnaire calling for information on immediate school needs as well as long-range requirements.

Martin A. Martin, attorney for Negro students in King George County, announced earlier he was meeting with Virginia officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to prepare a motion asserting that the school board has failed to provide equal facilities for Negroes and seeking contempt of court action.

Martin said the group does not seek dissolution of the State's segregation at this time but rather provision of equal facilities. However, he added, he could not see how the latter can be accomplished immediately without the former.

He also vowed to file a new discrimination suit against county school officials on the equal pay issue, a move striking at Wednesday's shift of a Negro school principal of the King George Training School and two of his teachers. The three were made assistants to their counterparts in the nearby whites, in an administrative shake-King George High School, for up which Martin labeled a "direct reprisal" against Negro citizens.

Staples Asserts Court Erred on School Funds

Richmond, Va., Sept. 10 (AP).—Associate Justice A. P. Staples in a 34-page dissenting opinion today held that the majority of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals was in error in refusing to order the release of State retirement funds for local school construction.

Staples, attorney general of Virginia when the General Assembly adopted legislation providing that retirement funds could be channeled through the literary fund, was joined in his dissent by Associate Justice Herbert B. Gregory.

The court on Wednesday at Staunton refused by a vote of 5 to 2 to issue a writ of mandamus requiring the State comptroller and the State treasurer to release some five million dollars of the retirement fund to the literary fund to purchase local school construction bonds.

The majority opinion held that such channeling of funds violated section 115-A of the constitution, which prevents the General Assembly from empowering localities to contract long-term indebtedness without approval of the voters.

Justice Staples said he felt the majority erred on two points:

1. That Section 115-A of the constitution did not impose any limitation on funds the General Assembly might use in jointly financing with the counties the construction of school buildings that had the approval of the State Board of Education.

2. That if the court felt that only trust funds owned by the State and dedicated to school purposes could be so used it should at least approve the use of the money in the teachers' retirement fund, contributed and owned by the State. Staples noted that the State had contributed more than 16 million dollars to teachers' retirement in the four sessions of the Legislature beginning in 1942.

The former attorney general said it was not the intention of Section 115-A to bar the Legislature from carrying out the mandate given it by the constitution in Section 29. This section says that the General Assembly shall establish and maintain an efficient of public free schools throughout the State.

He said the principal purpose of Section 115-A—an amendment that became effective in 1928—was to stop the practice in the General Assembly "of giving the general law the run-around by enacting local bills authorizing specific bond issues for some particular purposes, but without the approval of the electorate."

He asked that any persons of that type willing to donate blood either telephone the Red Cross at District 5042 for an appointment, or come into the center, 1730 E st. n.w., today between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Aviation Saga

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's 'Flight' Previewed at Gala Hollywood Party

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker has just completed a new movie short called "Flight," which was previewed out here after a very grand party given jointly by the famous ace and Lockheed Aviation Head Robert Gross and Mrs. Gross. The movie is a competent technicolor job capsuling aviation history, demonstrating the mechanical marvels of modern planes including the new Lockheed Constellation which is used on Captain Eddie's Eastern Airlines, and ending with a brief homily on air power by Rickenbacker himself.

But far more interesting than the short was an impassioned moving speech which Eddie Rickenbacker made afterwards.

It was a speech which should be recorded on wax and sent to schools and clubs throughout the country. Rickenbacker told how his parents emigrated from Switzerland and how he, a first generation American, was brought up to work, be frugal, and above all appreciate the incredible opportunities of this land, how he the son of poor parents had gained affluence obtainable nowhere else in the world. He said that loafing, expecting something for nothing, or for less, was undermining us, that our great power lay solely in production work hours.

Gold and Marble Setting

SOME 400 people of the aviation and movie worlds, of press and radio, listened to the captain in surroundings which contrasted sharply with Rickenbacker's great simplicity. The party was given in an ocean side club which was formerly a "beach house" belonging to Marion Davies.

The huge palazzo edging the Santa Monica Beach has an interior which must have set its interior decorator up for life. The non-Hollywoodian might imagine a beach house to be rustic in flavor but this job is a mass of crystal chandeliers, elaborately carved boiserie, a giant room running the ocean frontage all done up in white panelling overlaid with gold decoration, fancier than anything found in a dressy French chateau. The dressing rooms are a welter of marble, and upstairs, we were told, a trifling 45 guests could be put up for intimate weekend house parties.

The largest marble lined pool in captivity was set in the lower terrace and on one end shielded from the wind by transparent plastic walls were parasol topped tables where all the guests dined.

Since nights are wonderfully chill hereabouts, warmth is supplied picturesquely with cone-shaped movable braziers filled with glowing coal.

After cocktails everyone lined up at the buffet which offered a choice of chicken, boeuf stroganoff, lobster newburg, appropriate vegetables and cantaloupes filled with fruit for dessert. There was an orchestra, too, and like everything in Hollywood. The scene was wondrous to look at and slightly unreal.

Eakers Coming Here

AMONG THE aviation fans present were Actor Jimmy Stewart who, face to face is younger, more charming than on screen, and Gen. Ira Eaker. The general and his Ruth have a house in Santa Monica, but are planning a brief Washington visit. They'll swap their California rooftree for Gen. and Mrs. Carl Spaatz's new Georgetown residence, while the Spaatzs absorb sunshine, fog and smog in Santa Monica.

About Ruffles for Windows

A recent "Petunia" advised putting a ruffle of material around kitchen windows. I would like to use this idea in my children's playroom. Where can I get directions for making this kind of curtains? E. D.

To make ruffles for framing a window, tear (so they will be straight when laundered) cotton material in strips. For a double ruffle six inches wide, finished, tear the strips seven inches wide to allow for a narrow hem on both sides. Sew enough of the strips together so that you will have a strip twice as long as the distance around the window. If you wish the ruffle to be very full, make the strip two and a half times longer than the distance around the window.

Hem the ruffle on both sides, and down the center on the wrong side, stitch bias tape in such a way as to form a tube for passing through heavy cord or elastic. To get the bias in the exact middle, make a sharp crease by pressing the strip exactly double. To hang the ruffles, run a cord or narrow elastic (elastic makes the ruffles hug the wall tightly) through the bias tube and attach the ends to small nails or tacks which have been driven at each corner of the window. If the window has a sill at the bottom, unlike Petunia's small, no sill window, the ruffle should be placed at only the sides and top. The advantage of making the ruffle as described above is that when it is laundered, you have a flat straight strip of material which can be ironed in a jiffy—so much easier than a permanently gathered ruffle can be ironed. Also, a straight piece can be starched stiffer than you could starch or iron a ruffle.

Please tell me how to clean the inside of a waffle iron that hasn't been used for years.

V. G.

If the iron has a greasy deposit on the grids, saturate a cloth or paper towel with household ammonia, place it between the grids and allow to stand overnight. This should help to soften the deposit so that in the morning you can scour it off, using fine steel wool or a very stiff brush. Dust the grids with washing soda or a good household cleaner before going to work with the brush. Use care not to get moisture into the electric elements of the iron. Perhaps several applications of the ammonia left overnight will be necessary to completely remove the deposit. When clean, the waffle iron must be given the same reseasoning treatment which is given a new iron. To do this, thoroughly brush the grids, when cold, with unsalted melted fat such as shortening or salad oil, connect the iron and heat to baking temperature, disconnect and allow to cool.

Doings of the Day . . .

Sixty-five young women who will attend various colleges throughout the country will be guests of honor at a tea, 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Edgar A. Stanfield, 5204 Hampden Lane, Bethesda. Hostessing the event is the Alumnae Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority . . . The New York State Society will inaugurate its fall season with a dance honoring Fordham University, 10 p. m. preceded by a reception at 9:30 p. m. at the Shoreham Hotel. Guests of honor will be Fordham alumni. Special prize will be an airplane week-end trip to Niagara Falls.

Netherlands Reception Honors Queen Juliana

By Elizabeth Maguire

A DUTCH PARTY that was a treat, indeed, was the reception given yesterday by the Ambassador and Mme. van Kleffens. Hundreds were received between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock in celebration of the accession to the throne of Princess Juliana of the Netherlands.

A portrait of Her Royal Highness rested on the baby grand in the drawing room, and a more magnificent looking queen would be hard to imagine. There was also a portrait of the Queen Mother in the drawing room and one of the four little pricesses.

The Ambassadress looked like a young princess herself, as she stood at the head of the staircase to greet her guests. Her gown was champagne taffeta, bouffant style, and a small decoration with orange ribbon was her only ornament.

In the dining room and in the drawing room buffet tables were set up with a selection of hors d'oeuvres, including special Dutch bits such as botjes and ginger cakes.

Varied Fashions

As for fashions, it was a little too early in the season to decide anything. There were more spring bonnets than fall clothes, and Navy blue and white seemed just as popular as the new muted tones.

Vice Admiral and Mrs. Emory Scott Land were among the guests, the admiral with a brilliant sunburn. Mrs. Land, a Smith graduate, was concerned about a new president for her Alma Mater, said her husband's name had been suggested. The admiral said he would not run, however.

The British Ambassador, Sir Oliver Franks, was there with a suntan still left over from his vacation at Nantucket. The French Ambassador, Henri Bonnet, was a guest, and also the Australian Ambassador and Mrs. Makin and the Ambassador of Honduras and Senora de Caceres. The Indian Ambassador and Lady Rama Rau attended, the latter dressed in orange silk sari, gold trimmed.

The Charge d'Affairs of Switzerland and Mme. Fuchss, who has just returned from Newport, were seen talking with the Irish Minister, Sean Nunan, and the Canadian Ambassador and Mrs. Wrong.

Another guest, Mrs. Lothrop Stoddard spoke of the successful moonlight cruise which was given Wednesday evening on the S. S. Sightseer for the benefit of the Tolstoy Foundation. There were Russian dances, a Volga boatman orchestra and a midnight supper.

Miss Pauline Morgan and Miss Dorothy Stirling and Mrs. John Steelman had a chat. The latter said her husband was off on the Williamsburg with the President and would not return until Sunday.

Memories of Holland

The Hugh Butlers were there with their son, Dick, who has just returned from a bicycle tour of Holland. The cyclist said he had been most impressed with tidiness and cleanliness of Holland. Two other admirers of Holland were former Ambassador to the Netherlands and Mrs. Stanley Hornbeck. They recalled that on occasions such as yesterday, orange lights as big as balloons would be strung on trees along the avenues of Holland and along all the canals.

Among the many other guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Begg, Mrs. Barnet Nover, Orhan Eralp of the Turkish Embassy, Mrs. Wilfred Whittemore, Mrs. Edmund Leavey, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Colean, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Evans, Mme. van Swinderen, the Ambassador of Ecuador and Senora de Dillon, the Minister of New Zealand and Lady Berendsen, Admiral and Mrs. Louis Denfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, Mrs. Charles Ross, Colonel and Lady Prior-Palmer, Harold Jefferson Coolidge and Admiral William D. Leahy.

Arlington Boards Discuss Bond Issue

Bismarck's Kin

U. S. Jails Count in Spy Case

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP). Count Heinrich von Einsiedel, 26-year-old great-grandson of Bismarck, was sentenced to six months in jail today in a secret American inquiry into Soviet spying.

Einsiedel

The Moscow-trained mystery nobleman was arrested as a suspected Communist "contact" man the Army announced two days ago. But he was sentenced on the minor charge of possessing "false papers."

There was no explanation why the espionage charge was dropped. Unofficial reports said his arrest was "only part of a major investigation," however.

Von Einsiedel, a Luftwaffe pilot, was reported to have been an ardent Nazi until he was shot down on the Stalingrad front and made prisoner by the Russians. He was credited with shooting down 46 Soviet planes.

In his four years' imprisonment he received indoctrination in communism, and reportedly became chief of staff to Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus, captured German commander in the battle for Stalingrad. He was said to have tried to aid Von Paulus in raising an army from German prisoners to fight for the Russians.

He later became a writer for the Russian-licensed Berlin newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau. Last May 24 the newspaper charged Von Einsiedel had been "kidnaped" by the Americans while on a roving assignment to the American zone. The U. S. Army refused to confirm the arrest for almost four months.

In a special meeting last night the Arlington County Board discussed plans for a possible $2,500,000 to $5,000,000 bond issue for general county improvements.

The legislative group met with the Arlington School Board, which has definitely decided to request a bond issue of its own for school improvementss.

County Board Chairman Daniel A. Dugan said the meeting had been called so that both boards might "work together" and keep their individual bond demands "down to a reasonable figure."

Dugan said the County Board also considered a financial program under which present county indebtedness would be amortized over a period ending in 1972. He said the County and School Board would meet again next week.

The County Board's contemplated bond issue, Dugan said, would cover capital improvements such as highways, sewers, and sidewalk construction. As presently contemplated, it would run over a five-year period, with between $500,000 to $1,000,000 in bonds issued annually.

Amount of the school board's bond issue will be set following a public meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Thomas Jefferson Junior High School, 816 S. Fillmore st. Unofficial estimates set the amount of the school bond issue at about four million dollars.

Both the school and the county board's bond issue, if the latter group decides to ask for one, must go before Arlington voters in a referendum November 2.

At last night's meeting of the two boards, School Board Chairman Barnard Joy presented the factual school growth data to show the need for more school funds.

County Board Chairman Dugan said his own priority listing of Arlington's most-needed capital improvements included an addition to the courthouse, additional sewers, sidewalk construction, more play-ground facilities, and additional firefighting equipment.

According to Arlington's auditor, Elmer Newell, the county now has a bonded indebtedness of $3,200,000. He said the State imposed no debt limit on its counties.

Prince Georges Firemen Pick Officer Slates

More than 200 delegates from the 30 units affiliated with the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association last night nominated officers for the coming year at their twenty-sixth annual convention at Cottage City, Md.

Nominated for president were: Kenneth Crisp, College Park; William Perry, Bladensburg; and Frank Nymark, Mount Rainer. For vice president, the firemen nominated Theodore Gardner, Riverdale Heights, and R. M. Small, jr., Boulevard Heights.

Secretary F. D. Heimer, Branchville, Treasurer Vincent A. Simmel, Cottage City, and Chaplain J. E. Sampson were nominated without opposition for reelection.

The election and installation will be held at a business meeting 8 p. m. today.

The two-day convention will be highlighted by a pared at 1 p. m. today and a memorial service at 7:30 p. m. for firemen who died during the past year. A dance at the Cottage City firehouse after the officer installation will conclude the convention.

Fare Hearing Set for Sept. 21

A hearing on a 5-cent fare increase on intra-District runs of the Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc., will be held by the District Public Utilities Commission at 10 a.m. September 21 in the District Building.

Present fares are 10 cents cash and tokens are sold at three for 25 cents. The firm was recently granted a 5-cent boost by the Interstate Commerce Commission on most of its interstate runs.

The District rate boost to 15 cash or token at two for 25 cents has been pending since last November, but was held in abeyance awaiting disposition of the interstate case. The line serves 10 communities from Washington to Chesapeake Bay, mainly in Prince Georges County, Md., and Southeast Washington.

Virginia's 'Paper' Surplus 5 Million Over Estimates

Richmond, Va., Sept. 20 (AP).—State Comptroller Henry G. Gilmer reported yesterday that Virginia completed its 1946-48 fiscal biennium last June 30 with a general fund surplus of some $5,315,000 mor than had been foreseen.

The statement showed a surplus of $25,625,556. However, an analysis of the State's financial situation made by the Governor's offict was that the surplus is one that really isn't there now.

The analysis showed that from the $25,625,556 must come about $20,310,000 in unconditional appropriations made by the 1948 General Assembly for capital outlays and for deficits incurred in the 1948 biennium by State hospitals and sanatoria.

Phone Unions Meet to Map Pay Campaign

Independent and CIO telephone unions yesterday set September 24 for another meeting at which plans may be mapped for a "mass demonstration" of telephone workers across the Nation.

The CIO's Telephone Workers Organizing Committee and the Communications Workers of America (Ind.) met at Hotel Annapolis to discuss joint action in preparation for the start of negotiations September 16 with American Telephone & Telegraph Co. units.

Oscar Jager, spokesman for the CWA-CIO meeting, said that the unions were agreed that telephone workers trailed employes of other major industries by at least 10 cents an hour before the "third round" of postwar increases. That put them another 13 cents an hour behind, the unions said.

Jager said that 13 cents might be the joint wage demand, but the resolution adopted by the officials of the rival unions mentioned no specific amount.

One on the Aisle—

Sam Jack Saves An Anniversary

By Richard L. Coe

LIKE THE HUSBAND who forgets all important dates, doggoned if the Capitol's twenty-first anniversary hasn't slipped up with its closest relatives none the wiser.

The feature is Betty Grable and Doug Fairbanks, jr., in "That Lady in Ermine." Bert Wheeler headlines the stage bill. But only Sam Jack Kaufman, a husband the gals would appreciate, was forethoughted enough to remember. He's got an "Overture of Overtures" to recall that night in 1927 when the late Roxy opened the theater as the Fox, but it was news to every other busy person around the place.

The unplotted anniversary bill is pleasant without being outstanding. Ernst Lubitsch didn't live to complete the picture, which would probably have been a lot better if he had. And Wheeler's turn, while knowing, smacks of old lavender, quite purple lavender, at that.

"That Lady in Ermine" is supposed to be an adult fairy tale, but Otto Preminger, who completed the film after the Lubitsch passing, and the all-important studio editor haven't been able to get to the frothy fun that was the Lubitsch hallmark.

Samson Raphaelson's story concerns one of those Graustarkian noble ladies of the midnineteenth century who is forced to defend her castle from a vulgar invader. Since the young Fairbanks plays the invader, he turns out to be neither vulgar nor impervious to the Grable allure. He falls in love with a portrait of Betty's ancestor, who comes to life every midnight with all the other portraits in the royal gallery. The ancestor, though dead 300 years, still has more wit than the Betty of 1861, and charms the invader by making him think he's had something of a fling. Though both the ladies were married, Doug manages to snag the contemporary Betty as his bride. I'm sure all this is perfectly clear.

"THAT LADY IN ERMINE," a Twentieth Century Fox Picture produced and directed by Ernst Lubitsch, direction completed by Otto Preminger, original screenplay by Samuel Raphaelson, songs by Leo Robin and Frederick Hollander. At the Capitol.

THE CAST

Francesca and Angelina ... Betty Grable
Colonel and Duke, Douglas Fairbanks, jr.
Mario ... Cesar Romero
Major Horvath ... Walter Abel
Alberto ... Reginald Gardiner
Luigi ... Harry Davenport
Theresa ... Virginia Campbell
Captain Novak ... Edmund MacDonald

Fairbanks Style Amusing

Some of the sequences have a happy lilt, and the tone of humor you get from Fairbanks and his side, Walter Abel, are probably just what the gossamer mind of Lubitsch had in mind. But it's a bumpy road, I'm afraid, and it's rather sad that the final film to bear the distinguished Lubitsch name is a minor effort, despite the shiniest of Technicolor.

The most surprising feature of Betty's royal ladies is that their legs are too generously draped. Betty does get a song number that's going great guns though, "This Is the Moment." Fairbanks' style is infectiously good and, speaking of legs, the ladies should be told that Doug's trim pins are considerably more in evidence than Betty's.

Bert Wheeler's first appearance here since he was Dowd to "Harvey," makes no reference to that adventure but concentrates on cross-patter with an anonymous but able stooge. The laughs are on the purple side, as we remarked, but the Wheeler personality is still likable.

Solidest turn on the bill is Pedro and Durand's exact balancing act. Zarco and Beryl are on hand with thir dance routines and Jerri Keever contributes some song arrangements.

In line with the orchestra's birthday observation, Milt Slosser whips into a parade of State songs for dual-residence inhabitants of the Capital.

TODAY'S OPENING: Marcel Pagnol takes over another Washington screen today with the opening of "Nais" at the Hippodrome . . . Fernandel is the star of this story from Emile Zola . . . The other Pagnol effort? . . . "Marius" at the Dupont.

SALTY HOMES, who's been in such flicks as "Banjo on My Knee," "Saddle Leather Law" and "Sage Brush Heroes," joins Grandpa Jones for tonight's hillbilly "Gay Time" at Constitution Hall.

JOHNNY LONG and his band, always local favorites, will be on tap for tonight's two moonlight (will there be any?) cruises of the SS Mount Vernon . . . This Wilson Liner sails from the 7th st. wharves.

BOB MITCHUM's adventures have prompted Keith's to put off "Tap Roots" as "Good Sam's" successor and book Loretta Young and Mitchum in "Rachel and the Stranger."

NEW YORK'S theater season (yes, some places have plays) opened, as it always seems to, with a whimper . . . First play of the new season was Bessie Breuer's "Sundown Beach," which opened Tuesday and closes tonight . . . Despite Elia Kazan's direction, the hopes of the Actors Studio and a promising start at Westport, the aisle-sitters of Gotham turned it down.

"THE FUTURE of the Legitimate Theater in Washington" will be hashed out Sunday evening on WINX at 7:30 on the District and American Bar Association's round table . . . Frances Starr, the Capital's distinguished actress, will discuss the possibilities from her theatrical viewpoint . . . The Messrs. Wallace M. Cohen and Arthur C. Katims, the latter representing Theodore Granik, will tell of their efforts to find a home for the living stage . . . Bess Davis Schriener, Washington representative of the Theater Guild, and this reporter will complete Moderator Leonard Melrod's round table.

WE ARE THREE—a manager, a cook, a houseman; we know everything about running a large house or business, but have no cash to start one of our own. We even have lots of house furniture, including linen, washing machine, ironer (but no china or glass); so if accommodation given we could furnish a place. Is anybody in a position to employ and give us an opportunity to run his rooming or guest house, or a small family hotel? If so, please write Box M-789, Washington Post.

Arrival of Cake Raises "Strong" Suspicions

This past Thursday was Jerry (WINX) Strong's fifteenth anniversary on the air.

The occasion was marked by the arrival of a huge cake—so huge that a picture of it wouldn't fit into this space adequately.

In the icing on the top was some fancy lettering, made up to look like a telegram. It said:

"Congratulations 15 years of broadcasting stop best wishes for next 15 years. Colorado Pastry Shop."

The cake looked delicious, but Strong slapped down every probing hand. The kids in the polio ward at Children's Hospital will have to testify as to how it tasted.

Meantime Strong took a few minutes off from his 15 years of nonstop corn shucking to do a suspicious double-take on the cake's message.

He's wondering whether the "stop" was intended as a mark of punctuation or a sentence of command.

ITINERARY

President Truman reveals that he's going to Dexter, Denver, Pueblo, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles during the latter part of September. But we still don't know whether he'll be returning to Washington in the latter part of next January.

LET'S ALL GO

The circus is coming to town. Cooley-McCullough Post 22 of the American Legion is bringing in the Mills Brothers threering circus this Tuesday.

All profits will be used for welfare work at service hospitals.

To help the cause along, District Liner Williams of 3215½ Mount Pleasant st. nw. has purchased and sent to me 10 tickets, with the request that they be forwarded to a local orphanage.

The tickets are now in the mail, addressed to Hillcrest, 4119 Nebraska ave. nw.—Washington's orphan asylum.

MISCELLANY

Bill (WRC) Herson has been teasing his listeners with the announcement that "there's a little stranger at the Herson household." When listeners call to offer congratulations and ask whether it's a boy or a girl, Herson says, "Neither. It's a new convertible" . . . Tonight is Fordham Night at the Shoreham, with the New York State Society honoring Fordham alumni with a reception and dance . . . Coolidge alumni will picnic tomorrow at the Hillandale Recreation Center (out New Hampshire extended, turn right at the Hillandale firehouse). You can get details at Taylor 0213, Georgia 5348 or Georgia 5682 . . . The Women's Club of the Washington Highlands Jewish Center will hold a garden party tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Morris Servator, 3720 Nichols ave. se. (Details from Mrs. J. M. Frankle at Axminster 1477) . . . The most convincing explanation of the origin of the term "Rough Riders" to cross this desk comes from District Liner Sanderson, who originally posed the question. She's been told that the words were first used by Richard V. Oulahan, veteran correspondent for the New York Times. Oulahan used "Rough Riders" in a story he wrote about Teddy Roosevelt's crew, and submitted the piece to Roosevelt for an okay before publication. Teddy struck out the words wherever he found them, but he missed one reference, which got through, and the nickname stuck.

IF LOOKS COULD KILL

A news item says that scientists are now experimenting with a real death ray.

They've probably based their research on the sizzling glare which issues from the eye of a woman who's just been greeted with, "Oh, what a lovely dress. Isn't it the same one you wore to last year's party?"

INDEED HE DID

A 12-year-old relative of mine, after thumbing through "Bartlett's Quotations," solemnly observed:

"That fellow 'Ibid' certainly wrote a lot of famous stuff, didn't he?"

Yes, in his own field Ibid is as well known as is the famous Irish inventor, Pat Pending.

VAGRANT THOUGHT

Would you say that getting caught in a numbers raid is bad "policy"?

TOO MUCH IRON (CURTAIN) IN THEIR DIETS

Dispatches from abroad indicate that aggressors haven't changed much in the last thousand years or so.

They still have the same appetite for foreign territory—and the same trouble digesting it.

Leonard Lyons . . .

NEW YORK.—A Britisher read the United States Air Force's announcement that henceforth its members will be known as Airmen, and told of the RAF's experience in this matter. When the Royal Flying Corps was divorced from the British army, regulations for the new organization had to be drawn up quickly. The RAF staff hurriedly rewrote the British army regulations, substituting the word "Airman" for "Soldier." As a result the RAF regulations include one which reads: "No airman shall sleep more than 12 yards away from his horse."

Arthur Schwartz and Howard Deitz, who wrote the songs for "Inside U. S. A.," once took on the most difficult assignment in the history of songwriting—a contract to write "The Gibson Family" radio series, in which three new songs would have to be written every week. . . . "It'll take a lot out of you," Schwartz was warned. The composer shrugged: "Yes, but it'll take more out of Bach, Beethoven and Brahms."

Eduard Benes, who was buried Wednesday in Czechoslovakia, once heard a politician say: "History shows that in a dictatorship resignation is a safeguard against suicide." Benes replied: "History also shows that in a dictatorship suicide is a safeguard against resignation." . . . At the last League conference in Geneva, Briand of France suggested that showmanship was necessary to interest people in the League of Nations. He arranged for a broadcast from Geneva: "We'll have the pianist in Paris, the clarinetist in Zurich, the first violinist in Vienna, the oboe player in London and the conductor in Berlin." Benes said: "I hope that isn't very symbolic."

Chiefs of Staff Talk Grimly

By Drew Pearson

Due to the dynamite-laden Berlin crisis, the United States joint Chiefs of Staff have held some of their most crucial meetings recently. It is no secret that it is their duty to discuss every eventuality facing the United States—including war. And as the Russians have become cockier in Berlin, American faces have become graver around the joint chiefs' conference table.

Wm. D. Leahy

The American public, which probably does not fully realize how serious the Berlin situation is, has a right to know that at a recent meeting, Gen. Omar Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, outlined United States policy in case of war. He tabulated what the Russians already know—that we have about 300,000 troops in Europe, though only 30,000 combat troops. And, counting heavily on French and British support, General Bradley figured that the Allies could fall back on the Rhine.

Admiral William D. Leahy, President Truman's own Chief of Staff, interrupted at this point with a skeptical question, which illustrates how United States military chiefs follow the democratic principles of rough-and-tumble debate.

"How long did you say we could hold the Rhine, Omar?" he asked.

General Bradley said he didn't want to make any promises, but he believed we could hold the Rhine for some time—long enough to bring up reinforcements.

Admiral Leahy continued skeptical. The Russians, he pointed out, had 40 divisions in Germany or about 600,000 men.

Merry-Go-Round

Lovely Peggy Palmer, widow of Woodrow Wilson's Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, got a generous job offer from the Republican National Committee. A lifelong Democrat, she turned it down, later went round to offer her services to the Democratic National Committee. The grateful Democrats kept Mrs. Palmer waiting in an anteroom all morning, never let her see anyone . . . It was the Los Angeles Daily News which goaded U. S. District Attorney James Carter into prosecuting housing frauds against veterans. It took some hot editorials to do it . . . Ham Moses, Arkansas utility tycoon and the man who gave away nylon stockings to influence utility voting in Congress, is out to defeat forthright young Congressman Jim Trimble of Berryville, Ark. Moses, a Democrat, is masking part of his operations behind Arkansas' GOP leader, Wallace Townsend, whom Moses put on the Arkansas Power & Light Co. payroll. Besetting sin of Congressman Trimble is that he worked for rural electrification, flood control and public power projects.

High Argentines

One by-product of the increasingly serious financial crisis in Argentina is a series of fallings-out and mutual recriminations among members of President Juan D. Peron's official family.

Economic Czar Miguel Miranda and Dr. Orlando Maroglio, president of the government's central bank, are not speaking. Dona Evita, the Chief Executive's ambitious and highly articulate wife, is momentarily under wraps as the result of an ultimatum from Gen. Filomeno Velasco, ultra-Nationalist army leader and real "strong man" of Argentine politics.

On the other hand, Dr. Oscar Ivanissevich, the former Ambassador to the United States, who now tells Argentine school children what to read, think, and say, has managed to antagonize almost all his colleagues. They can't stomach the surgeon's blatant use of his present post (secretary of education) to promote himself as a presidential candidate.

The Miranda-Maroglio feud, however, is the one with the most far-reaching consequences. Maroglio was Don Miguel's right-hand man when the latter held the central bank presidency, succeeding him in that job when Peron made Miranda dictator of Argentina's totalitarian economy. Soon thereafter they began to bicker.

Now, each openly accuses the other of basic responsibility for the growing disaster which has sent the Argentine peso chuting down almost 50 per cent in the free money market and practically paralyzed the country's foreign trade.

One day recently, an assistant told Miranda that Maroglio was on the phone and wanted some information which only Miranda could give.

"Tell Maroglio," snapped Miranda, "that he can send any messages to me through the President. I won't talk to him, I won't listen, and I won't see him."

As for Eva Peron, she is suffering from the resurgent influence of General Velazco, who began to throw his weight around again as soon as the shaky financial situation became known. The hard-bitten former chief of federal police and prime sparkplug of the government's campaign to suppress civil liberties cordially detests Senora Peron anyway.

Eva's constant political hoopla and her penchant for seeing that any workers who got her ear (she is the real boss of the labor department) were granted raises, the general claimed, were largely to blame for the nation's financial plight.

Velazco's turkey-talking to Peron took place on May 8. Since that date, Dona Eva has not said one word in public and has been absent from her sumptuous labor department office more than half the time.

Your Faith in Me

When skies of purple turn to blue . . . And red and green and white . . . And there is sunlight on the hills . . . To take the place of night . . . I long for you with all my heart . . . And wish that you were here . . . To share each feeling and each thought . . . That say I love you, dear . . . I wish that I could see your face . . . As clearly as the sky . . . And tell myself for sure that you . . . Would never say good-by . . . Because you mean so much to me . . . In everything I do . . . That every goal I ever gain . . . Belongs at last to you . . . Whatever plan I follow and . . . Wherever I may be . . . I cannot hope to win without . . . Your loving faith in me.

Today is the big day! Today Silver Spring dedicates the beautiful new B & O Viaduct. A huge parade, bands playing, banners waving . . . thousands will be there to witness the ceremonies . . . Governor Lane, Roy White, President of the B & O Railroad; Montgomery County Commissioners Brooke Johns, Oliver Youngblood, Wesley Sauter, Charles Jamison and George Esworthy.

And when you turn back the clock a few years, you realize what this celebration really means. Only yesterday, it seems, Silver Spring was a small, sprawling community of a few thousand souls. Today, its population numbers tens of thousands . . . it boasts of many fine stores . . . thousands of fine homes and a community spirit that is far ahead of its times.

Now, with the dedication of this magnificent viaduct, Silver Spring reaches new heights! The wonderful services of the B & O Railroad come right to its door. And a wide ribbon of concrete enables you to drive to and from Washington in a few moments. When Governor Lane cuts the ribbon at 2 p. m., we hope you will be on hand. This is a day in Maryland history . . .a day that means the beginning of a new era for Silver Spring and Montgomery County.
